OPEN OFFENSIVE IN BRESLAU SECTOR

By NATALIA RENE
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—Red army forces smashed forward today at both ends of the Oder river front, piercing Nazi defenses 19 miles from the Baltic port of Stettin and, according to German radio claims, launching a new offensive from an Oder bridgehead at Steinau, northwest of Breslau.

While Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army reportedly burst into the open terrain before Berlin west of the Oder, the German DNB agency reported in a wireless dispatch that the Red army had gone over to the attack at the Steinau bridgehead, some 30 miles northwest of Breslau.

(A German transoceanic dispatch said that the Russian thrust from the Steinau bridgehead was started from both sides of the town.)

Great Battle Develops

The agency added that in the last 24 hours a great battle had developed in the triangle formed by the towns of Breslau, Glogau and Legnitz with the force of the battle tending toward the south, toward Breslau. The dispatch said that the Russians "obviously" plan to surround Breslau.

"Along the entire Oder sector between Breslau and Glogau tanks are rushing at each other and infantry forces are fighting each other grimly."

PA NEWC Observes

One week from Saturday is the next salvage paper collection day in New Castle. Paper is a vital war need. Prepare to aid the collection.

It would be a welcome condition if the weather moderation would continue long enough to rid the streets of the heavy coating of rutted ice. Many street intersections and thoroughfares present anything but inviting traffic conditions due to the unprecedented weather of the past two months.

Snow in the downtown areas could hardly be called "The Beautiful" at the present time. It is almost completely black due to soot and dirt covering.

LeRoy Shoaff, superintendent of the local bus company directed bus travel at Mill and Washington street yesterday and reported he noticed no decrease in student riding during the rush hours.

Portiers have been hung in the Recreation center, city hall and plans are to have the place open February 15, if such is possible. A committee has also purchased ornamental lights which will be placed at the various booths. Several benches have been given a coat of tan paint.

As a hobby, J. S. Eakin of Energy works in wood. As a result of his "whittling," he calls his painstaking work, he turns out various articles. Among them are intricate inlaid jewel boxes and handkerchiefs with a center of golden peach wood, a band of vermilion wood and a design inset in tiny pieces of light holly wood.

SHE WASN'T PRETTY TO THE JAPS

Young and lissome, Mila Calma, 22, of Tarlac on Luzon poses prettily enough with the flag of a U. S. Air Force unit near her home town—but the hand on the pistol was what the Jap invaders mostly saw. She operated with Filipino guerrillas in the hills around Tarlac and helped to win back liberties that were lost.

Hard Fighting Rages In Italy

Troops Of American Fifth Army Battle Against German Counter-Attack

ROME, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Hard fighting raged in the Serchio valley area of Italy today, with troops of the American Fifth Army battling against a German counter-attack north of Galliano.

Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring sent a company of infantry into a counter-blow against the Allied forces.

Galliano had been taken four days ago by troops under command of Lieut. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott at the start of a drive for limited objectives.

In the western coastal sector, troops of the Fifth Army pushed forward 300 yards against light opposition. The terrain, however, was difficult to traverse.

Probing patrols sent out by the Germans all along the Eighth army sectors on the eastern side of the trans-penninsular front were repulsed.

Headquarters revealed that yesterday the Mediterranean Allied Air Force stepped up its aerial blitz to carry out 2,200 sorties. Heavy bombers hit targets in the area of Vienna and Graz, Austria. Medium bombers battered points in Northern Italy while fighters showered the enemy in the Po valley battle line. Sweeps also were carried out over the Zagreb area of Yugoslavia by planes of the Balkan Air Force.

Saturday, February 17, is Waste Paper Salvage Day in New Castle, and the townships adjoining the city. Plans for the collection were outlined Thursday noon when a meeting of the local waste paper committee was held in the Elks club with Chairman Joseph Hartman.

As usual the Boy Scouts will be out in force to pick up bundles from the curbs in front of the homes. In addition to the work of the boys however, there is a need for men to aid in loading the collection into the paper products containers is being felt more and more. Huge Damage Done By Jap-Set Fires In Manila

By CLARK LEE
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, Feb. 9.—(Delayed)—The battlefield of Manila was a panorama of smoke, fires and burned out buildings when this correspondent flew over the waterfront area for two hours this morning in an artillery spotter plane.

We could see American planes at Pasay where the 11th Airborne is pushing up from the south, while over in the center of the city, small boats crossing the Pasig river showed where 37th division infantrymen were attacking in the other half of a pincer movement against Japs whose positions could be spotted by our artillery bursts.

The biggest fires today were in the "intramuros" or walled city, the southern part of which appeared most damaged. The huge, yellow government buildings have been gutted by fire but the remaining government buildings appeared so far untouched as were the hotels overlooking the bay.

The business district north of the river is a tumbled mess of structures from which emerge the frames of modern concrete and steel of buildings whose interiors were blasted by demolition bombs and blackened by flames.

Damage In Many Areas

Damage, however, was not confined to this area. Out toward Nichols field with its bomb-pitted runways a whole section of 10 blocks of homes behind Dewey boulevard was completely wiped out and in several other parts of the city there was similar wholesale destruction.

Fires still were burning on Ensenada island near the mouth of the Pasig and farther along the waterfront oil refineries were throwing up smoke which from time to time nearly obscured most of the capital.

Huge fires also were raging on the east coast of Bataan where American planes apparently hit Jap supply dumps.

Correllor, out in the bay, looked dark, silent and formidable against the blue of the harbor while at

Bombs Start Fires On Haha Jima In Bonin Islands

ADMIRAL NIMITZ ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Three large fires were left in the wake of the latest American strike at Haha Jima in the Bonins, according to a communiqué which today listed the town of Okimura as the target.

The raid, carried out on Wednesday, was staged by army Liberators of the strategic air force of the Pacific ocean area.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(INS)—American Superfortress raids on the Jap industrial city of Kobe, on the main island of Honshu, were carried into the sixth consecutive day when a lone Yank B-29 assaulted the city again today, radio Tokyo reported.

The broadcast announcement, heard by the FCC, said that bombs were dropped by the single Superfortresses about 2 a. m.

The usual claim that "our side sustained no damage" was put forth by Tokyo.

Siegfried Line Before British Appears Weak

By CHARLES LYNCH
(Distributed by International News Service)

WITH BRITISH AND CANADIAN FORCES IN GERMANY, Feb. 9.—Allied troops now are fighting inside the outer defenses of the Siegfried line which was found to be weaker than expected.

The British and Canadian assault on the northern tip of the Siegfried line inside the Reichswald forest is going well with seven towns and 1,200 prisoners captured in the first 24 hours of the operation.

British and Canadian troops seeking to turn the Siegfried line found to their surprise last night on reaching the outposts of the line that they did not include concrete pill-boxes.

Not Strongly Held

All the defense works so far encountered have been of earth and not very strongly held.

The prisoners taken yesterday represent a considerable proportion of the troops holding this sector of the front for Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt.

They include two and possibly three battalion commanders. The prisoners were badly shaken. Goch and Cleve, large German towns immediately ahead of the battle line, still were burning last night after the heavy pounding Wednesday night by allied heavy bombers.

Blows Against Badly Disorganized Enemy In Northeastern Bataan Increased

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Feb. 9.—American tanks and infantrymen intensified their blows today against a "badly disorganized" enemy in the Munoz-Rizal-Lupao sector of northeastern Luzon where at least one crack Japanese armored division was eliminated as an effective fighting force.

As Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced capture of the key towns of Munoz, Rizal and Lupao in the foothills of the Caraballo mountains, other U. S. Sixth and Eighth Army infantrymen persistently hunted down and wiped out Japanese suicide parties within the southern portion of Manila.

Swarm Across River
MacArthur said that elements of the veteran 37th infantry division swarmed across the Pasig river which bisects Manila to join with units of the 11th Airborne Division south of that stream in mopping-up operations against the enemy snipers and roving bands in the flame-seared Philippines capital.

While fires continued to burn in some sections of Manila, the 37th Division forces effected the crossing of the Pasig after the Japs demolished all bridges across that stream. Undaunted by the lack of "ducks" and other amphibious vehicles while others stormed across the pontoon bridges hastily constructed by U. S. engineers.

Meanwhile, authorities disclosed that the Manila water supply system was captured virtually intact when the Yanks smashed into the Philippines capital from north, east and south late last week to completely cut off the Jap garrison.

Dewey Demands Light Be Given World Decisions

New York Governor Says Time Passed For "Glit- tering Generalities" By Leaders

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Roosevelt, shaping the nation's peace pattern in the "big three" conference overseas, was given a demand for forthright action and a pledge of support today by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—spokesman for 22 anti-New Deal Americans.

In his first public address since his presidential defeat last November, the New York state governor told a Lincoln Day dinner audience of Republican "glittering generalities" by government chiefs.

Against Concealment

The American people, he declared, ask that the world decisions now being drafted "shall not be concealed and shall not be devious...shall not be made in the cynical spirit of power politics."

Dewey, who remained in Washington today even as his views were being beamed overseas by OWI, won an enthusiastic ovation from the 1,200 GOP members of congress and other party leaders who heard his address in the Hotel Statler.

Senate Minority Leader White called it a "fine" declaration which dealt in fundamentals that were covered most effectively and persuasively.

Republicans warned to Dewey's domestic theme that his party lead

Blast Wrecks Chicago Plant

Fear Two Persons Trapped In Fire Wrecking Vier- ling Steel Works

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Explosions which rocked the neighborhood and buried two pieces of fire apparatus raged the $600,000 Vierling Steel works today as firemen vainly sought to stem a blaze in which it was feared two persons died.

Robert L. Vierling, secretary of the concern, told fire officials the plant was operating on a 24-hour basis fulfilling a huge army order for parts for portable invasion bridges.

More than 55 pieces of fire apparatus responded to six alarms sounded within 15 minutes after the fire was discovered, saving adjoining buildings and homes.

Complete Wreck
The Vierling works, sprawling 600 feet on W. 23rd St. and extending an entire block to the rear, were such a complete wreck that Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney predicted no bodies ever would be found if any of the employees failed to escape.

Night Superintendent Ray Olsen said all 20 employees in the pattern shop on the second floor escaped, but that two of them apparently returned to get their overcoats and apparently perished. He said:

"I saw them go back in. Then there was a sheet of flame and I heard them screaming. I never saw them again."

He said the two were John Gagejowski, 35 night watchman, and Martin Lightfoot, negro laborer.

One blast blew out a 75 foot section of the wall in the half of the building which was three stories high at that point. Bricks and flying embers showered the apparatus, compelling the men to drop hose lines and run for their lives.

Red Cross Over Quota On Blood To Fighting Men

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—In procuring three million pints of blood more than the estimated requirements, the American Red Cross blood donor service in 1944 beat its quota for the fourth straight year.

National Chairman Basil O'Connor today announced.

Praising the American people for backing the armed forces with life blood, O'Connor said the most outstanding development of the blood donor service was its supply of "whole blood" to the overseas fronts.

The whole blood is flown daily to Europe and to the Pacific to meet the enormous needs of the armed forces and that quota as well as the plasma is being met, O'Connor declared.

Montgomery's Latest Offensive Of Great Strategic Importance

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The devastating flames of war on the Allied European western front are increasing to an all consuming white heat.

The latest offensive launched at the extreme northern end of that line by Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery's 21st Army group is of great strategic significance.

Public interest for the last day or two has been captured by the advances made by Gen. Courtney Hodges, 1st American Army east of Aachen and south of Duren.

That interest has been greatly intensified because elements of the 1st Army are approaching the five great German dams in the Roer valley.

Edge of Cologne Plain

Those American attack elements are on the edge of what is called the Cologne plain. In other words, they are to the north of the Ardennes mountains which are the extreme northern end of Germany's protecting west line of mountains.

It should be remembered that when the Roer river and the Cologne plain are crossed, Gen. Hod-

Bombers Smash At Brenner Pass Railroad Lines

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Feb. 9.—British-manned American Liberator bombers, heavy Halifs and medium Wellington bombers, one of the largest formations moved by the R.A.F. in the Mediterranean, last night attacked the Italian terminal on the rail lines through the Brenner Pass at Verona, headquarters announced today.

The object of the formidable sky assault was to cut the German escape route into the southern Reich as well as to cripple the trunk line from Milan eastward to the Balkans. Two-ton block-buster bombs and incendiaries were employed and fires visible 50 miles were set off in the target area.

Famed Specialist Seeking To Save Life Of Baby Girl

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Dr. W. E. Ladd, famed child specialist, began an intricate operation at Children's hospital this afternoon in an effort to save the life of a five-year-old baby girl who was sped to Boston from Utah on an army transport plane through a driving snow storm.

The infant, threatened with starvation by a defective esophagus which prevents passage of food to the stomach, is the daughter of Lieut. and Mrs. Hyman Weisberg of New York City.

Outside the operating room as the operation was being performed was the child's father, who accompanied the infant on the 20-hour flight on the C-45 transport.

Fairmont, W. Va., Theatre Burns

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Feb. 9.—(INS)—A $500,000 fire today destroyed the Fairmont Theater and damaged the adjacent theater apartments, forcing more than 100 persons out into the streets in sub-freezing weather.

The blaze was discovered about 2:45 a. m. when smoke was seen pouring from an apartment window. The fire was brought under control about five hours later.

Two firemen were overcome by smoke and 100 guests in the nearby Watson hotel were routed from their beds by the threatening flames the cause of the fire was undetermined.

Pittsburgh Man Jumps To Death

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The body of H. Raymond Wachter, 55, north side office furniture factory distributor was found today on an eighth floor ledge of the Key-stone hotel after he either jumped or fell from his 14th floor room.

A bellhop discovered the body after rushing to Wachter's room when the telephone operator received a call in which Wachter said that he was in intense pain and would jump if someone didn't do something, the coroner reported.

BILL AUTHORIZES ONE LICENSE PLATE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin today affixed his signature to a bill authorizing the use of one automobile license plate for the duration of the war "and not more than two years thereafter."

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Harold G. Miller (R) Blair, was the first to pass both houses of the General Assembly.

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A determined new Allied attempt to outflank the Siegfried Line got off to a magnificent start today when British and Dominion troops of the Canadian First Army gained almost five miles in the initial phases of a major offensive aimed at occupation of Cleve, northern anchor of the Siegfried Line.

Canadian army assault forces, aided by a terrific 11-hour artillery barrage and an echelon of tanks and flame-throwers that riddled German defense positions, covered 8,000 yards of enemy-held territory on a front approximately six miles in length.

At the same time, supreme headquarters announced that all organized German resistance has ceased on the west bank of the Rhine in the former Colmar pocket area.

The British-supported Canadian troops in their smash into the Reichswald forest in Germany captured seven towns in the initial

U. S. Planes In Huge Smash At German Plants

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Tottering German communication lines, synthetic oil plants and war factories were bombed heavily by daylight today by a force of more than 1,850 American planes, following up a smashing RAF assault by at least 1,000 aircraft.

A synthetic oil refinery at Lutzendorf, 13 miles south of Halle, an armament motor transport plant at Weimar, 52 miles southwest of Leipzig, and marshalling yards at Magdeburg below Berlin were the principal targets.

Other secondary objectives were also attacked by the giant force of 1,300 Liberators and Fortresses and more than 850 fighters.

The idea of March will soon be here, and with them comes the spring, when maple syrup starts to run and birds begin to sing, and poets twang a lusty lyre of love and everything. I like their lays and sonnets too, their quatrains are delightful, as they sing praises of the spring, and lovely springlike nights, but never do they pay much heed to some of March's sights. Why don't they sing of muddy lanes and horses bogged to hocks, and mud bespattered lovely dames with stains upon their socks, it's thirty-three today and ice is still piled up like rocks.

Night And Day Raids Continue Against Germany

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—American bombers roared out over Germany again today, keeping up the night and day pace of the Allied air war against Nazi targets.

German radio Achtung warnings declared that the planes were over western Germany.

The American raiders followed up last night's British attack on the German synthetic oil plant at Pöhlitz, four miles north of Stettin, now threatened by Soviet armies.

A brief communiqué announcing the attack said planes of the RAF were over the Reich in strength during the night.

Other targets besides the oil plant at Pöhlitz were hit.

Block-busterladen Mosquitos hit the city of Berlin.

(Air alerts broadcast by the German radio and recorded by the FCC said flights of Allied bombers again were "over and approaching" western Germany in daylight today.)

Farmers Hosts To Rotary Club

Dinner Meeting In New Wilmington Grange Hall Attended By Over Hundred

Lawrence county farmers were hosts to members of the New Castle Rotary club at a dinner meeting in the New Wilmington Grange hall Wednesday evening, when the farm group returned the compliment extended to them by the Rotarians recently, when they were guests at a dinner meeting in The Castleton.

Over 100 men from the two groups sat down to a delicious dinner, and pep singing was led by W. H. McCullough of Big Beaver township.

The speaker of the evening was Kenneth Hood, extension specialist in agricultural economics at Penn State College, who told how much rural and urban interests are dependent on each other.

In normal times, he pointed out, approximately thirty million people are engaged directly in agriculture, with another twenty million connected with business directly tied up with the farm industry such as transportation of food products, and the selling of fertilizer, farm machinery, etc. to the farmers.

Prosperity for the farmer, he stated, depends on the prosperity of the city dweller, to whom his products are sold, and when urban residents are prosperous, the farmer is also.

Since the start of the war, farm population has dropped around five million persons, with around 1,650,000 men from the farms in service. Yet with a 10 per cent smaller working force, the farmers of the nation produced one-third more in farm products than the best years between 1935 and 1939. Some of this increase has been attributed to favorable growing conditions throughout the country which have been generally good for the past eight years, conditions which may not exist during 1945.

H. L. McCurley of Big Beaver township was general chairman of the committee in charge of the evening's program.

all Americans "unflinchingly" on the road toward "greater freedom of the individual" as well as toward increasing security. He warned that there is a "large body of opinion in our country going down the primrose path toward totalitarianism."

Timely Appraisal

But it was his timely appraisal of the country's role in the current Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference which won most attention and most applause.

"There need no longer be any doubt anywhere, that the American people are prepared to exercise their great power actively continuously and effectively in the interest of a just and a lasting peace," he declared.

Dewey then called specific attention to the "big three" meeting now being held somewhere in the Black Sea area. At that meeting, he said, President Roosevelt has the "wholehearted support" of both parties and the "prayers of the American people."

But he insisted:

"The structure of international peace must progress further and faster or it will be left behind in the swift movement of world events."

Criticizes Nation's Leaders

He criticized the nation's leaders for being "absent from the scene" when decisions were made affecting the government and boundary questions of such liberated nations as Poland, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Italy and Greece in the past three months.

"We insist that decisions be made with us and not without us," Dewey declared. "Millions of Americans are in the front lines of battle. Our government must likewise be in the front line of decisions which flow from these victorious battles."

The governor, who reminded his followers that the GOP polled 46 per cent of the presidential vote last November, asserted that the American people "want to be sure of action guaranteeing the permanent disarmament of Germany and Japan."

He made no direct mention of the controversy over confirmation of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce but sharply attacked "those who want to take the easy way of spending the nation into bankruptcy and chaos while the government takes over control of the lives of every individual."

Deaths of the Day

Brookover Funeral

Funeral services for Charles Adams Brookover, of 1101 East Washington street, were conducted Thursday afternoon at three o'clock from the Howard L. Reynolds funeral home, Adams street, by Dr. Burr R. McKnight of the First Methodist church, officiating.

REDS ADVANCE AT BOTH ENDS OF ODER FRONT

sians had gained ground in a westward direction in fighting east of Liegnitz.

A German DNB agency dispatch repeated transoceanic version of the Glogau-Liegnitz-Breslau fighting and declared that the Russian offensive thrust, from the Steinau bridgehead was launched from both sides of the town.

Progress Toward Stettin

The report on Soviet progress toward Stettin, increasingly threatened by Zhukov's northern wing, came in the wake of a formidable British night bomber attack against the synthetic oil plant at Politz, only four miles north of Stettin.

According to Nazi radio announcements, first white Russian army forces hold an almost continuous 50-mile bridgehead on the west bank of the Oder, last natural barrier before Berlin.

A dispatch by the Nazi DNB agency said that the Russians had established a number of bridgeheads across the Oder on both sides of Tuersternberg, south of Frankfurt.

At the same time, Berlin admitted a Russian encirclement, claimed later to have been broken, of the fortress city of Kuestrin, northern anchor of the 17-mile Kuestrin-Frankfurt line protecting the direct approaches to the rubble-strewn and barricaded Reich capital.

New Soviet Drive

As Zhukov plunged forward in areas 30 miles from Berlin, the high command announced a new Soviet drive across northeastern Germany that carried to within 37 miles of Stettin, the capital's outlet to the Baltic at the Oder's mouth.

And to the south of the mighty central smash to the heart of the Reich, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's first Ukrainian army swept up to 25 miles west of the breached Oder, southwest of the Silesian capital of Breslau in a drive threatening Berlin from the rear.

As Zhukov gathered his legions for the stretch drive to Berlin, and threatened to isolate Stettin, still another red army, Gen. Ivan D. Chernyshevsky's fourth Ukrainian army, captured the important junction fortress of Koenigsberg, 12 miles south of Koenigsberg. In a flanking sweep around the southern defenses of that flaming East Prussian capital.

4,900 German Dead

More than 4,000 German dead were left on the battlefield after the capture of Kuezburg, Moscow announced.

On a long-dormant front far to the south, other Russian forces swept up 40 inhabited localities in a powerful new drive southwest of the Russia-occupied Polish city of Krakow aimed at the Moravia-Ostrava Carpathian gateway to Czechoslovakia.

In the beleaguered Hungarian capital of Budapest, more than 3,500 officers and men were captured by red troops which have driven the city's grim defenders into an encircled area of the Buda section of the city.

Announcing the new threat to Stettin, the high command did not identify the forces it said were closing in on the Baltic gateway to Stargard from the east and south-east. But it was believed they may be units of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's second white Russian army.

Though the Soviet high command has been silent since Wednesday night on the decisive battle raging along Berlin's direct eastern approaches, the Moscow radio said last night that "the Oder line has been pierced and Berlin, swept by a new wave of panic, is witnessing the crumbling of the last obstacle in its defensive forefield."

Meanwhile, refugees arriving in Sweden said "the task of maintaining law and order in Berlin and of keeping up food supplies now is utterly beyond the police and the Nazi party" and that "a state of siege will be proclaimed at any moment."

Reports from the Sixth Army group front south of the French Rhineland city of Strasbourg said that all organized German resistance along the west bank of the Rhine in lower Alsace had ceased.

The German resistance collapsed after the Nazis were pressed into a narrow strip along the Rhine between the Hartz forest and the river by American-supported French First Army troops. Allied advanced elements reached Champe.

The villages of Muchousen, Roggenhausen, Hamsheim, Blodelshelm, Rumerahen and Hamburg were liberated.

The farthest point of penetration officially revealed at headquarters carried the Canadians into the town of Kranenburg, five miles west of Cleve.

On Five Mile Front

At least 1,000 Germans were taken prisoner as the Canadians and British troops surged ahead along a five-mile front in the Aich forest area southeast of Nijmegen, Holland.

All of the villages seized were situated southeast of Nijmegen and included Wyler and Kranenburg both inside Germany, and Zyslich, Bruik, Denhuvel, Gekkensteeg and Erlekom, in eastern Holland. Wyler and Kranenburg lie on the western fringe of the Reichswald.

The attack, closely supported by Allied aerial squadrons and spearheaded by tanks and flame-throwers on the ground, was declared at supreme headquarters to be progressing well.

A spokesman for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said that the Canadian First Army gains amounted to several thousand yards, while a dispatch from headquarters of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery said that the advances totalled nearly three miles.

Casualties among Canadian and British troops were said to be light.

Opposition "Patchy"

Opposition by Nazi defense forces, thrown in to combat the offensive which has as its immediate objectives the Siegfried line bastion towns of Cleve and Goch, was described as "patchy."

Resistance to the initial ground onslaught, launched after a fierce aerial drubbing and in the midst of an 11-hour artillery bombardment, was light but was expected to stiffen within a short time.

The Canadian First Army ground units were expected to encounter thickly defended areas from now on as they press deeper into fortified Reichswald sectors.

In addition to the natural obstacle formed by the forest itself, the Nazis have set up numerous pillboxes and field fortifications as well as emplacements along adjacent roads.

As the Canadians and Britons hit the outer defenses of the Siegfried line, already broken by Americans in the Aachen area and crumbling to the south around the German town of Schmidt, planes of the British Second Tactical Air Force and the U. S. Ninth Air Force launched a heavy aerial onslaught in an attempt to paralyze the Germans' railway system west of the Rhine river immediately behind the battle front.

Huge Damage By Planes

More than 2,000 railway cars were destroyed or damaged yesterday and some 200 locomotives suffered the same fate. Allied fliers reported cuts in railway lines at 150 places.

The Germans, seeing the probable early loss of northern Holland and wishing to take away as much manpower as possible, were reported at headquarters to have ordered the evacuation of all able-bodied Dutchmen from areas north of the Meuse river.

Westwall attacks being pressed by Americans saw Tank First Army troops advance 1,000 yards north-east of the Siegfried fortress town of Schmidt, controlling point for Roer river dams which was entered yesterday by the Yanks. Stubborn battling was reported continuing in the areas of strategic Schmidt.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army forces poked forward to within two miles northwest of the Siegfried bastion of Pruem, while farther south the Third Army combatted a stiff Nazi counter-attack in the area of Echternach, on the Luxembourg-Reich border where Yanks smashed across the Our and Sure rivers.

Reports from the Sixth Army group front south of the French Rhineland city of Strasbourg said that all organized German resistance along the west bank of the Rhine in lower Alsace had ceased.

The German resistance collapsed after the Nazis were pressed into a narrow strip along the Rhine between the Hartz forest and the river by American-supported French First Army troops. Allied advanced elements reached Champe.

The villages of Muchousen, Roggenhausen, Hamsheim, Blodelshelm, Rumerahen and Hamburg were liberated.

American First Army troops smashing deeper into the Siegfried defenses in the area northeast of Monschau took the town of Komerscheid and battled the Germans in Harscheidt.

New Attack Made By Sen. McKellar Upon Appointee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D. Tenn.) today made a new attack upon Aubrey Williams before the senate agricultural committee in which he charged that Williams "consorted with and encouraged" communists.

Seeking to block Williams' confirmation as rural electrification administrator, McKellar countered Williams' emphatic denial that he is a communist or favored communism.

McKellar delved into a four-year-old house investigation of the WPA of which Williams was deputy administrator. The report declared that Williams "has not only consorted with them (communists) but encouraged them and gave assistance to them when they occupied a responsible position."

McKellar read an alleged speech by Williams praising David Lasser, president of the Workers Alliance and Herbert Benjamin, his right hand man.

MONTGOMERY'S LATEST OFFENSIVE OF GREAT STRATEGIC VALUE

ger assaulting troops will still be faced by the Rhine river which is Germany's strongest western natural defense system.

But it is improbable that the five dams and the Cologne plain are the major Allied offensive objective in the west.

The recent German offensive which created the so called "Belgium Bulge" without any doubt, had as a secondary objective an assault northward which would cut the route of supply from Antwerp to the most northern elements of the Allied line. These elements are Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army group which is made up of the 1st Canadian and 2nd British armies.

HUGE DAMAGE DONE BY JAP—SET FIRES IN MANILA

Cavite, within closer view, two tall red and white radio masts which withstood Jap bombings in December 1942 still towered amid newer desolation caused by our own planes.

33 Hulks In Harbor

Near the Yacht club a fair-sized vessel suddenly began to move among partially sunken Jap ships which litter the harbor—I counted 33 hulks in the inner harbor 17 outside and many more in the stretch of water toward Cavite. The vessel which was possibly an oversized Jap version of motor torpedo boat kept going until it reached the Yacht club pier.

From the first house on Dewey boulevard—which the Japs renamed Greater East Asia boulevard—to the southern end which they converted into an airplane runway by tearing up the parkway in the center of the wide street which skirts the bay—we saw a line of the 11th airborne, the hard-charging outfit which has driven a wedge through the Jap southern defenses.

OAKWOOD GARDEN CLUB TOPIC 'TREES'

Oakwood Garden club members met in the home of Mrs. Ethel Whiting, Moody avenue, Thursday evening, who entertained jointly with Mrs. Ralph Hay. The "name and origin of a historical tree" was given in answer to roll call.

With "trees" as the theme, appropriate poems were contributed by Mrs. Clayton Hoffmaster, Mrs. Julian Miller and Miss Elizabeth Taylor. Mrs. Francis Heckert gave an informative paper on "The Birch Tree".

Especially interesting was the article composed and presented by Mrs. B. K. Thacker on "Architecture of Trees" which she illustrated with sketches made by Miss Helena Burkhardt, former art teacher of George Washington Junior High. Mrs. Thacker pointed out the beauty of trees especially in fall and winter seasons.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close.

Next meeting Thursday, March 2, will be with Miss Elizabeth Taylor, Oakwood avenue.

HADASSAH MEETING MARKS ANNIVERSARY

New Castle Chapter of Hadassah, celebrated their thirtieth anniversary with an open board meeting on Thursday evening, in the home of Mrs. Julius Markley, Lincoln avenue, who entertained in a most gracious manner.

The occasion was highlighted by a surprise, the appearance of Mrs. Sidney Shubin, a brilliant speaker widely known, who is vice-president and chairman of Pittsburgh's Chapter of Hadassah. She addressed the assembly on "Reaching Your Goal".

In her inspiring message, Mrs. Shubin stressed the importance of co-operation with Allied nations, and stressed Hadassah's new project which is to be started in Palestine—a tuberculosis hospital to be erected next door to Hadassah Health Center in that land. The institution when completed, will accommodate approximately 1,000 patients.

President, Mrs. Abe Cohen, who presided, called a special prayer for silent prayer, in memory to one of their deceased members, Mrs. Sam Rosen.

Gratifying reports were contributed by chairmen, and plans were formulated for the establishing a Bond and Stamp booth in one of the downtown stores.

Honorary President, Mrs. L. F. Kohn, who represented the local chapter at a conference in Pittsburgh on January 28, reported on the Jewish raising fund project and told of a new tract of land recently purchased in memory of Theodore Hertz, an outstanding Jewish personality. She also unfolded the history and growth of the Pittsburgh and national Hadassah organizations.

Mrs. Simon Skole, co-chairman of education for Hadassah, stated the Joint Study group activities and related that an educational conference is slated for February 20 at The Castleton from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. For this date, "Model Study Groups and Educational Material" will be the theme for discussion.

Mrs. Jack Conn, chairman of the H. M. C. drive, asked co-operation with full moral and financial support, in Hadassah's undertaking of this particular project.

Refreshments were served, Mrs. Markley being aided by the following co-hostesses: Mesdames B. Pickel, Al. Haenick, Abe Fisher, Abe Gonic, J. Greenberg, J. Mirow, H. Wolfe, Dr. A. Kornblatt and H. Greenberg. The prominently placed anniversary cake, was ceremoniously cut by Mrs. L. F. Kohn, honorary president who is outstanding in Hadassah work. "American" and the "Hatikvah" were sung in unison by the assembly.

Next meeting, February 27, will be held at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Jack Kulkin, Boyles avenue.

In two weeks, Mrs. Rae of Edgewood avenue will entertain.

D.D.D. Club

Mrs. Ralph Dixon of Edgewood avenue opened her home to D.D.D. club members Thursday evening, with cards as the pastime. Mrs. Jack of the pastime, Mrs. James Rae carried off the honor score prizes. Lunch was served at a late hour by the hostess.

In two weeks, Mrs. Rae of Edgewood avenue will entertain.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Bomber Group Has Morale And Spirit

EIGHTH AIR FORCE Bomber BASE, Somewhere in England, Feb. 9.—Call it morale or spirit or whatever you want to, but this 446th Bomber Group has got it.

It isn't that they're cocky in any juvenile way. It's just that they have a sense of men working together seriously on a task on which they are concentrating all possible effort.

A lot of it must come from the commanding officer, who is Colonel Troy W. Crawford. A flyer for 15 years, he is called "The Old Man," and that is the legend painted in big red letters on the side of his P-47.

"The Old Man" uses his P-47 to ride herd on squadrons when they are forming up after the take-off. He does it with the same sure expertise with which, back in his home in Texas, a good cowhand would ride herd on cattle.

Takes Lead

Since he became commanding officer of the base, six months ago, this bomber group has taken the lead over all the others in the division. From December 24 to January 1, the 446th had the greatest number of hits that any group in the division ever had. Through photographs taken by automatic cameras at the time of bombing, a record is kept, and scores of individual crews, squadrons and groups are checked for accuracy.

After he took over the base, Colonel Crawford started the process of shifting squadron leaders and crew leaders in an effort to find the best men for particular jobs. That is how he explains the record established by his group—getting the right men in the right places.

One of his crew leaders of whom he speaks most proudly is Captain Alfred Knopf Jr. of New York, son of the publisher of the same name. Knopf has flown about half of the 30 missions which constitute a tour of duty.

The executive officer of the base is Major J. L. Spooner, who comes from John Nance Garner's home town, Uvalde, Texas. Spooner is responsible for all the housekeeping for several thousand men on the base. He is responsible for bombs and fuel, as well as the smallest details of living.

24-Hour Job

It's just about a 24-hour job. On one of the nights I was at the base, he was awakened at 2 in the morning by a crisis caused by frozen water-pipes, and he didn't get into bed again until 11 that night. Spooner does a lot of cussing over British "inefficiency," or perhaps it's merely their different way of doing things.

Like most Texans, he's just as much a Texan in gray, rainy England as he is in Uvalde. He reacts against a certain kind of British snobbishness and class distinction. Once at tea at a local aristocrat's castle, some Britishers were reciting their distinguished prewar occupations, and when Spooner's turn came he said he was a goat herder—which is literally true. He has a goat ranch outside Uvalde.

The senior intelligence officer at the base is Major Milton R. Stahl of St. Louis, former chairman of the Missouri Public Service commission. He arranges and supervises the briefings. Although over 50, he has gone on 12 bombing missions and has a Bronze Star, equivalent to the Distinguished Flying Cross, and an Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster. Stahl says it is important for an intelligence officer to go on missions because he gets an idea of how the men see things, and they feel he is one of them. In 15 months at the base, he has had only six leaves.

Gigantic Job

In London and in Washington you hear a great deal about publicity for the air forces. I don't think these men are interested in publicity as such. But they do want the people back home to have some understanding of the magnitude and importance of the job they are doing. They do not want it taken for granted.

The overall picture—how much air power has contributed to the winning of the war—is not their concern. In any event, that appraisal can come only after final victory, when a thorough and impartial study will be in order.

Certainly the success of D-Day and the sweep across France that followed would not have been possible without the preliminary work of the air forces. Certainly the intensive bombing of Germany has contributed to the successes of the Russian armies.

The men of the 446th Bomber Group talk very little about such things. They're concerned with the number of hits on yesterday's target; with getting their planes into the air and getting them back again.

What People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Elbert D. Thomas (D., Utah) of military affairs committee, fear "big three" announcement will adversely affect manpower crisis: "The statement may cause people to say they will get their peacetime jobs back before the military come home."

NEW YORK—National Red Cross Chairman Colby M. Chester: "When the shooting stops the job of the American Red Cross will be even greater than it is today because we will have to maintain the morale of five million men no longer occupied with fighting."

WASHINGTON—Navy Secretary James Forrestal: "The Navy is speeding up the labor draft bill. 'Time is of the essence. We have the war momentum going, and if we can keep it going we can shorten the war.'"

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:40. Sun rises tomorrow 7:49.

It is a good thing to know when friends eat their meals. That is if you want a meal.

Asked how long he sleeps Sunday mornings an East Side man said it depends upon the length of the sermon.

CURIOUS CYNIC CANTS

An impression we have after reading current news from Hollywood is that 'chic' and 'glamor' are affectations to conceal booby traps.

It is the twinkling temple bells of imagination, vanity and adventure that lure us on to the sacred shrine of sex love.

It is far easier to acquire a bad habit than to discard it.

Married a person who is free from bitterness rather than one who is beautiful.

Fast war planes, it is promised, will fly so fast that you will be back home before you say "good-bye."

Ge, wouldn't it be terrible if there were no perfume.

It is difficult to say which makes the greatest mistake, the one who believes everything or the one who believes nothing.

WHAT USE EFFICIENCY?

Old Zeb was whitewashing his barn with a brush that had very few bristles left in it. The Squire passed and observed: "Why don't you get a new brush with more bristles in it Zeb?"

"What for, Squire?" asked the darkey.

"What for?" answered the Squire. "Why, man, if you had a proper brush, you could do twice as much work."

"Mebbe so, Squire, mebbe so," responded Zeb. "Only, you see, sub, I ain't got twice as much work to do."

Some of the most meaningful gestures are made by the skillful lifting of the eyebrows.

Wonder what would happen if we took the advice we give to other people?

The fellow who first gets mad loses the argument.

Mother was trying to impress upon her young hopeful the virtues of being unselfish and generous.

"Now, Tommie, when you pass the candy, be unselfish enough to give your little sister the largest piece. Why, even the old men will give all the nicest dainties to her little chicks and take only a tiny one once in a while for herself."

Tommie said nothing...but after watching the old men with her brood, he said: "Well, mom, I'd do the same thing. If it was worms."

The word "investigator" covers a multitude of snoots.

Stretching the truth is almost as bad as stretching a lie.

ANSWERING CURIOUS CYNIC

...he who jumps at conclusions jumps at delusions.

...if you expect others to respect you, you first learn to respect yourself.

Heaven never helps nor even backs the man who will not help himself.

...nothing so nerves a man to great achievement than to have someone at home who really believes in him.

Note on school teachers: If unmarried girls are best qualified to train children, why does nature give the job to married women?

Everyone wants more wages, but few want to do more work to earn them.

Most blunders are made by those who see and before there is time to cool off.

People who are always telling their troubles are never at a loss for something to talk about.

The World and the Mud Puddles

HE DEPENDS ON O. P. A.

James G. Rogers, Jr., is a Yale man, a graduate in the Class of 1931. He is now deputy administrator of the OPA, with his office in Washington, D. C. He has been stationed in Washington since August of 1943, and as he says, it has been an interesting experience. He knows as much about the workings of the OPA as anyone in that organization and says:

"As to organization, there are roughly sixty thousand paid employees. Besides the national office, where there are some thirty-six hundred, there are eight regional offices, ninety-three district offices and three hundred ninety-eight area rent offices. Over and above these there are about five thousand different American communities. At those boards, approximately one hundred thousand volunteers give their time to administer rationing and price control in local communities. They make the decisions as to how much gasoline, how much sugar for canning, etc., their neighbors are entitled to get. They are responsible for compliance with OPA retail price ceilings.

"All in all, there are some three million business establishments under price control selling millions and millions of items. There are fourteen million rented dwellings under rent control.

"Let me quickly appraise the job we have done.

"In the last year, prices went up sixty-two per cent between July 1914 and Armistice Day. After a full in prices, again they started upward in March 1919, and continued to the peak, after which there was a collapse.

"This time, since September 1939, prices have increased twenty-eight per cent...most of which increase occurred before OPA got into the picture.

In the last year and a half, the price level has been held almost completely firm...much to the surprise of expert economists, who in May 1943 said again that the best we could hope for was something like a half of one per cent increase each month. If that had happened another nine per cent would have been added to the cost of living index. The economic stabilization program would have been busted wide open. Wages would be far higher. And a real inflation would be on the way.

"While I think the job has been good, that doesn't mean that we're proud of every part of it. First of all, the controls on clothing prices have been inadequate. Prices have gone up somewhat, and quality has deteriorated. The latter is not inconsiderable.

When officials oppose a committee that exposes un-American activities, there is something about the officials or the committee that needs exposing.

Both England and Russia are plotting to safeguard their "interests" because they can't count on us. Roosevelt may promise, but his promises can't commit the nation.

Little February, not satisfied with being the month made illustrious by the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln, now adds another—the day Manila was reborn to civilization.

Just think—two more months and the annual battle between the off-fresh-air fiends and the closed-window addicts will be on in full swing!

CHARACTER ANALYSIS OF CHILDREN

A number of parent study group leaders and teachers in the primary grades have written for suggestions on character education for young children. They seem to be looking for something apart from the kind of thing we often have discussed in this column.

In the last analysis all good education at home and school is character education whether we know it or not—especially at home. Of course it is desirable that we emphasize more than we do, those traits which seem to make children good citizens now and promise to make them good citizens also as adults. Unfortunately, our educational theory has more or less indicated as futile, all efforts at direct instruction, at telling children for example "This is right." "That is wrong," and parents are acquiring a similar attitude.

Standards Change

Granted that standards of right and wrong are changing from time to time, I believe certain basic ones are stable enough for us to accept them and to teach children. We are so fond of demoralizing the child, it seems to me, as to hear us quibble over small shades of differences in such matters. Anyway conduct is not so much a matter of reason as emotion. Your child and mine, especially in his early years, does what promises satisfaction and avoids what promises discomfort. In the long run everybody does.

In case he had acquired a few basic inhibitions long before he knew why, inhibitions which later proved to him reasonable, had lived with those who understand him and respect his personality, win his affection and esteem; then, if his parents and teachers, being admired by him, live the good life, he will be likely to choose to emulate them. Moreover, at that age, when the child's attitude is favorable toward them, he should hear them say every now and then, "This is right; That is wrong," and "I wish you would do this," "I wish you would not do that."

Routine Health Habits

We shall not ignore his routine health habits, emotional self-control, opportunities to achieve and express himself wholesomely, not habits of self-reliance and responsibility toward himself and his neighbors. Rightly will depend pretty largely upon relationship to him.

My bulletins directly related to this subject are: "How Teach Child to Help at Home," "How Teach Tot Meaning of No," "Stubbornness," "Honesty and Truthfulness." Please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for each and every bulletin desired and address me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City.

Washington Report

Congresswoman Aims Views On Nursing Shortage
Scribe Wonders If Roosevelt Hopes For Wallace
Jones And Wallace Are Unalike In Temperaments

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The capital on the Potomac is a wonderful place to be for a critical columnist. The most entertaining rows are going on in every corner. Prinkler's ink bubbles and air waves bounce as commentators write and talk about the Jesse-Jones-Henry Wallace free-for-all. About the charge of Congressman Frances Bolton and slightly alling Army wives keep in attendance at Walter Reed hospital special nurses who might be used to care for wounded soldiers.

In regard to the Jones-Wallace bout, I believe the hunch some people have that President Roosevelt has his tongue in his cheek as the Senate rears on its hind legs at its former presiding officer. I believe the president has "stood Henry out" knowing he would be knocked down at confirmation time. He deliberately stood Wallace out in front at nominating time at the Chicago convention.

Wallace "Fall Guy"

Vice President Harry Truman has told friends he was informed by several of those close to the throne boys a few days before the Democratic convention began that Wallace was to be used as a "fall guy."

He would wobble about a little and topple over. By the time Jimmy Byrnes and Alfie Barkley would have been gotten out of the way, the V.P. coast then would have been clear for Truman.

There couldn't be two men more unlike in temperament than Wallace and Jones. They couldn't understand each other's language less if one spoke Aztec and the other Gaelic. No matter how many more new languages Henry Wallace learns he'll never know what Jesse Jones is talking about.

But Mrs. Jones knows what Jesse Jones is talking about. She looks after him as a good wife should. Once when he was coming to dine informally at our house he called Mrs. Jones, who had recently gone to visit in Houston, Tex., to ask her on the long distance phone where she had put the key to the trunk in which she had packed his heavy overcoat.

Woman of Courage

Congresswoman Frances Bolton of Ohio, who has been speaking out about the nursing shortage, is a woman of courage. When Mrs. Bolton talks about nurses she is discussing a subject on which she is a national authority.

For years the handsome Cleveland woman has been working with and for nurses. Five years ago she and four other influential women went to the surgeon-general of the Army and offered to use their experience and efforts to start a program for the education of nurses for war needs.

"The Army does not intend to educate nurses," the surgeon-general bluntly said. "Let the hospitals do that."

The cadet schools for nurses are not functioning too well, according to Mrs. Bolton. There is only money enough left to finance the schools for one more year. Some of the cadet nurses having only a moral obligation to enter the Army have gone into private nursing.

Private nursing is badly needed of course. But it should be managed on a quota basis. On those who really need care should have care.

Too much attention is paid to organization, Mrs. Bolton thinks. Too much to influential patients—such as the Army wives.

"Some day," said Mrs. Bolton, "it will be the patient, not the nurse nor the doctor nor the board of managers of the hospital, who is to be considered first. The patient to be considered first now is the wounded fighting man whom we have sent overseas to defend us."

SPENDTHRIFT

"Oh I have frittered it away. For pretty things to wear." I heard a foolish spendthrift say. Or someone's task to share. Or that an hour or two of mirth. If but the truth be told, I fancied how more real worth Than being rich when old.

"Always my pocket had a hole. The money filtered through. I couldn't hold to save my soul. As others seem to do. And though to keep the stuff I'd save. To serve some rainy day. Against the need or joy of now. Old age seemed far away.

Report 'Big Three' To Accept Surrender Only From Generals

Political Bargaining Unacceptable
Even If Hitler Is Disposed,
Rumors State

PARIS, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Reports circulated in Paris diplomatic circles today that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin had decided the unconditional surrender of Germany could be accepted only from a representative of the German general staff rather than from any political government, Nazi or otherwise.

These same reports also indicated that the "Big Three" were standing firm for unconditional surrender despite indirect peace overtures from certain German business and military leaders made through Franz von Papen in Spain. These overtures apparently are predicated on the possibility that Hitler could be deposed.

'Shot Already', He Refused Surrender

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The answer Tech. Sgt. Michael A. Tomasko of Pittsburgh threw back at Nazis surrounding his platoon, was typical of the bravery he showed in three invasions, according to his buddies.

His reply, when called upon to surrender, was: "I won't surrender. I'm shot already."

UAW-CIO To Check On Money Affairs Of Eastern Local

Alleged Discrepancies 'Running Into Thousands' To Be Investigated By C.I.O.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The executive board of the UAW-CIO set up a special committee to investigate the financial affairs of one of its biggest eastern locals where, according to Secretary-Treasurer George P. Addes, discrepancies "running into the thousands" have been discovered.

Addes identified the local as 669 of the Curtiss-Wright Aeronautical Corporation at Paterson, N. J. The local has 22,900 members.

Addes, after a closed meeting of the board this morning, announced that a committee of three international board members, auditors and legal counsel for the union will make a special investigation of the local's financial affairs, and will report to the board Saturday.

To get the full, rich flavor of coffee—it must be properly roasted to develop all the flavorful goodness of the beans. Because roasting is such an exacting art... every pound of A&P Coffee is roasted the Flavor-Saver way. This exclusive process brings each roast to precise flavor-peak—presto!—off goes the heat—out rush the beans, literally bursting with rich, mellow flavor.

2. PICK OF PLANTATIONS

Superb quality is what A&P buyers select at South American plantations—and that's your assurance of satisfaction in every pound of A&P Coffee.

3. SOLD... REALLY FRESH

No gambling with "lost" flavor when you buy A&P Coffee! Every pound is sold in the roaster-fresh bean—cramp-packed with flavor.

4. IT'S CUSTOM GROUND

This means fresh A&P Coffee is ground precisely right for your coffee pot, at the very minute you buy. It makes a difference; try it!

5. THE BLEND FOR YOU

No one coffee can suit everyone—so A&P Coffee is available in a blend to suit YOUR taste. The right blend means you get more enjoyment in every cup.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG—Who said city council meetings were long drawn-out affairs? Harrisburg's council set a record for brevity at a recent meeting when members got together for 53 seconds.

AMBRIDGE—An oculist could really coin money in Egypt, according to Mrs. J. C. Lomier, a former missionary. She said 95 per cent of the peasants have eye trouble because water is never allowed to touch a baby's eyes.

BENTLEYVILLE—Two brothers, Danny and Fred Naichibella, aged 17 and 19, are a pair of budding inventors. The youths created a device to open and close pasture fences from the barn and have applied for a patent. "We have had it for 10 years," they said.

NORRISTOWN—Burgess William R. Hendrickson likes popular songs—but he's not the swooning type. A vagrant brought before him chanted "Don't Fence Me In" when he heard Hendrickson pronounce a 10-day jail sentence but the magistrate stood by his verdict.

BROWNSVILLE—When list No. 1041 lands on enemy shores, the Brownsville "Junior Commandos" can take pride because they helped outfit the ship. The youths contributed $100 the proceeds of a waste paper drive, to buy equipment for the craft.

HUDSON—Two Army Air Forces sergeants grew up together, entered the service at the same time and now they're prisoners in the same German camp. Sgts. William B. Richmond and Harold Botwright were shot down on the same day while on a mission in different planes.

BROWNSVILLE—Seven wild dogs attacked Miss Gertrude Cottle while she was en route to work and forced her to go to a hospital for treatment of cuts, bites and scratches. A slaughter of stray dogs was ordered immediately.

SCRANTON—Hauled into court on a charge of drunken driving, Pasquale Scallise told Judge Will Leach that the bottles police found in the car were filled with vinegar and not wine. He was acquitted.

PITTSBURGH—Gratitude apparently was unbounded when Mrs. Lillian Klinzing purchased three boxes of shoe polish from Patrolman John Henesey. She complained in court that he threw in two unwarranted kisses after the sale. The shoe polish? Just a sideline for Henesey.

A German bomb made into a collection box was used in York, England, in raising funds for the Royal Air Force Benevolent fund.

"JUST A STEP AHEAD"

Observations Of Babson On Postwar Opportunities

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1945—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 9.—Neither parents nor servicemen now realize the new conditions which they must face in the postwar era. The boys must not expect to find, upon their return, the same opportunities which existed when they were drafted. (1) Before this war, it was bad to unfairly kill one's enemy; but now it is good to kill in any way and under any conditions. (2) Before this war, it was undesirable to regiment and undesirable to have individual liberty; but now it is desirable to regiment and undesirable to have individual liberty. (3) Before this war, it was popular for the government to increase expenditures; but now it is popular for the government to keep interest rates down and produce beyond capacity. (4) Before this war, it was natural for stock prices to boom with business; but now it is more natural for stock prices to disregard wartime earnings. (5) Before this war, it was best to allow commodity prices to seek their supply-demand level; but now it seems wise to ration commodities and control prices. (6) Before this war, we could wait and allow God's justice to shine in due time; but now it appears necessary for us to completely upset American ways and principles.

If I Were Young
The greatest developments of the future will be along creative lines; possibly in connection with foods as researchers or small manufacturers or sales agents. If I were about to go to college today, I would specialize in biological chemistry; or, I would connect myself with either a pharmaceutical concern or a fertilizer corporation with the ultimate idea of getting into business for myself.

Insurance Attractive
I am now a director in two fire insurance companies and one life insurance company. Many insurance companies are in ruins; and there are great opportunities with casualty insurance. The system used by Lloyd's has never secured a foothold here. It would be very tempting to develop it. Although I have constantly fought against "gambling" in stocks, I fully realize the human instinct to take chances. Although Washington has driven gamblers out of the stock market, they still love race tracks and number games.

Or, one could start a company to specialize in "commodity" or "price" insurance and let speculators do the insuring, the company to serve only in finding the business. Further, it might be wise to sell such insurance through drug stores, restaurants, barber shops and various other outlets which are now handling the numbers game. I would let people bet on business affairs instead of on the foolish things they now bet on. This idea is sound basically and ethically; it might offer a great future to thousands of returning servicemen.

Don't Forget Good Soil

Whatever your boys do see that they own and live on an acre of fertile land within walking distance of post office, church and schools. In this connection, I am reminded of a wise old gentleman who used to visit my office. He was Hon. Westmoreland Davis, ex-governor of Virginia. He always carried a steel suit case. One day we asked him why he carried the odd suit case. He replied, "Because it looks less like a carpet bag than any other type of hand luggage and I want to forget carpet bags!" This opened up conversation with regard to the uncertainty of investments.

The old gentleman became dead-ly sincere and told us that we of the north could never understand what real chaos and tribulation could follow a war because we had never experienced it. He had lived through the Civil War days and the Reconstruction Days. He said, "There was never any piece of paper representing the ownership of property that came through those evil days of the south. Our bonds were no good, our cash was worthless. There was only one thing that came through. That was the land which we occupied. Those of us who stuck to the land came through. Security-owners, mortgageholders and absentee landlords were all wiped out." I do not mean to suggest that anything like this could happen here during the next 20 years; but it is wise to insure against everything.

State Income Tax Study Proposed

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A "careful study" to determine whether a state income tax should be imposed was recommended to Gov. Edward Martin today by the post-war planning commission.

"A careful study of personal income tax should be made to discover its advantages and disadvantages and to determine whether the Pennsylvania tax structure would be improved by the enactment of such a tax," the commission reported.

The commission also recommended a "fair and equitable" distribution of the liquid fuels tax to counties and repeal of the four-mill tax on municipal bonds.

Simultaneously, the commission disclosed it would urge a "very detailed" engineering survey of Pennsylvania's penal and mental institutions.

Post Office Clerks Find Love Notes And Lipstick On Mail For Servicemen

"Mail is supposed to be private, but this younger generation doesn't give a darn whether it is or not," laughed Post Office clerk Jim Cowmeadow, looking at the letters in his hand.

"Not even when the letters are love letters. They not only put messages in code on the outside, but write whole sentences out. In fact most of the messages we find on the outside of envelopes are personal—very personal."

Old time messages like the well-worn "To postman: if not delivered in five days, try your damndest on the sixth" are completely surpassed by some of the phrases passing back and forth between servicemen and their girls now. Many of the codes are common ones, like the letters S, W, A, K, or putting the stamp on upside down. But some of them can't be figured out, even by the boys behind the widow of the Post Office.

"Awfully Sneaky"

"And lipstick," commented Postmaster William Hanna. "Some of it is neat, but some of it gets awfully sneaky."

Persons with a bit of the artistic in their souls really add something to the letters, though, the two men agreed. As often as several times a week an envelope will come through with wood scenes skillfully sketched all over the front, or with the address carried on a signpost drawn under the stamps.

If the letter is going to a paratrooper, an airplane in the upper left hand corner has dropped a parachute which is billowing out to show the lucky serviceman's address on its folds.

Even color varies—pink, blue, green—especially in air mail stationery. Likewise the scent.

And Scented Letters

"Boy," was Mr. Cowmeadow's opinion of the fragrance carried by the love letters.

"You can tell if there's a scented letter in the bunch as soon as you come near them. I don't know what kind of stuff the girls use."

And then there are the post-cards and birthday cards and get-well cards signed "Mother," or "Carrie," or "James," with no possibility of anyone's ever finding out who Carrie is because the card has no address, or the wrong address and no return address, or no postage.

Or letters with A. P. O. addresses will be sent "in care of postmaster, New Castle." Or best of all, a letter will come in addressed to "Mrs. Smith, New Castle, Pa.," and no one knows better than the Post Office force that there are scores of Smiths in the directory.

In other words, think of something crazy that could happen to a letter and then rest assured. It has happened. And since the war it's been happening more than ever.

Police Seek To Solve Tangled Love Situation

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Police today were trying to straighten out the tangled love affairs of Pauline Trapuzzano, 20-year-old West Philadelphia war worker, but their probe into the embroilments of cupid was strictly business.

The story began late yesterday with an accent on drama. Carmen Vernachio, proprietor of a diner in nearby Montgomery, excitedly called police to tell them that a girl accompanied by two men had just left the establishment after dropping a note reading:

"I am being kidnapped. Pauline, Sar. 7042. I am on my way to Allentown. Please hurry and let police know."

Story Unfolds

State police quickly overtook the vehicle carrying the trio, and the story began to unfold. The companions proved to be the girl's cousins, Albert Trapuzzano, and Sylvester Diaz, both of Philadelphia. The trio was brought to a West Philadelphia police station after state police deduced the "kidnaping" apparently was a hoax.

Detective Lieutenant Irvin Mock explained that "Dias felt the girl's mother was trying to force her to marry another man, against her will, and that he took her on the automobile trip 'to get her out of it.'"

He said Diaz is a navy AWOL suspect. Pauline, he added, had taken out a marriage license Wednesday to wed Raymond R. Martin, with whom she worked.

Pauline told police "I just ran away because I didn't want to be married. She said she perpetuated the kidnap hoax 'so the police would come and take Sylvester, and in that way he could straighten out his trouble with the navy, because I love him so.'"

A Michigan dog loses his $25,000 inheritance by a court ruling, thus also losing his chance to become the first playboy in history.

STEAMER SAILS IN WASHINGTON DRAFT

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Looking like an old tramp steamer with the crew's washing hung out to dry, the trawler H. M. S. Dunston battled her way 500 miles across the Atlantic.

When the engines broke down 500 miles from this side of the Atlantic, Lieutenant Commander John S. Burgess of Lancashire, ordered the crew "make all plain sail."

The result was startling—awnings, blankets, flags, and even shirts were hurriedly made into sails. They worked and at a slow three knots the ship continued her voyage safely.

General Zhukov's Russian troops, according to the war maps, are actually nearer London, England, than Moscow. Well, they've got plenty of friends in both places.

Local Resident's Brother Honored By King George

Mrs. Thomas J. Jones, of the First Congregational parsonage, East Reynolds street, has received a clipping out of the London, England, "Daily Mail," regarding King George's New Year honor list for the year 1945.

The name of Mrs. Jones' oldest brother, Philip Jones, Gwynia House, Osborne street, Rhos, North Wales, with his picture, is included in the list.

A letter from the secretary of the Minister of Piel and Power to Mr. Jones runs as follows: "It is with much pleasure that at the request of the Minister of Piel and Power, I inform you that His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to confer on you an award of the British Empire Medal in recognition of the services you have rendered with the coal industry. The Minister, Major The Right Honorable Gwilym Lloyd George has asked me to convey to you his personal congratulations upon the award of this honor."

Philip Jones looks forward to visiting London and to being invested by the King at Buckingham Palace. He is 59 years of age and has two sons in the British Armed Forces. He resided for ten years with Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Jones while Rev. Jones held a pastorate in Scranton. Mr. Jones returned to Wales about ten years ago.

Jailbreaker Gets 18½ To 48 Years Prison Sentence

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Two judges on Thursday took turns sentencing Melvin R. Loveland, 23, the jailbreaker, until he faced a total of 18½ to 48 years in prison. Judge Frank P. Patterson termed him an "outlaw" and Judge John P. Egan accused him of having the escape in mind when he was sentenced in October.

Loveland, an Army deserter, broke out of the Allegheny county jail with another prisoner, Nick Derembeis, October 22, three days after he was lodged there.

Loveland was captured in a gun-battle near Dayton, O., January 11, December, a convicted eye gouger, was captured in a gunbattle at Vestaburg, January 10.

When he escaped, Loveland was serving 5 to 15 years for 31 robberies. Today, Judge Egan sentenced him to another 5 to 15 for these crimes.

Judge Patterson sentenced him to an additional one to three years for jailbreak; two and one-half to five years for automobile larceny and five to ten years for a stickup.

EASY LUNCH BOX DESSERT

Adds flavor, freshness, health!

Golden California navel oranges are lunch box favorites with children and grown-ups alike. They add delicious flavor and welcome freshness—supply important vitamins, too. And navel oranges are truly seedless—much easier to peel and separate into plump, juicy sections. Just put one or two in the lunch box and you have a simple, healthful dessert that always makes a hit!

More vitamins per glass!

Give your family the extra vitamin protection of California navel orange juice. Six-year tests prove it's richer in vitamin C, A and calcium. Gives you more real-orange flavor, too.

Three Indicted At Scranton On Ration Charges

LEWISBURG, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Three former executives of the Scranton Office of Price Administration were under federal court indictments today charging rationing irregularities involving meat, 307,000 gallons of gasoline and thousands of pairs of shoes.

Arthur A. Maskery and Henry C. Walsh, suspended from their jobs by regional OPA Director Daniel P. Wooley, of New York, shortly after the investigation was completed last fall, were charged by a grand jury with embezzlement and illegal possession of coupons worth 307,000 gallons of gasoline.

Maskery and Frank Snyder, district director, were charged with the improper issuance of ration documents and currency for meat and shoes.

Named as co-conspirators, but not indicted, were Archie Wachs, Scranton market operator, and Louis Rudnick, Scranton shoe dealer.

Merchant Seamen Among Men Being Returned To U. S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The War Shipping Administration today listed 40 torpedoed American Merchant seamen who will be brought to the U. S. February 21 by the exchange ship Gripsholm. They are being repatriated from German prison camps, where some had been interned as long as three years.

On their arrival they will receive combat bars, war zone ribbons and other decorations from Capt. Edward Macauley, deputy WSA administrator.

Among the repatriates are five Pennsylvanians. They are: William Golovich of Duquesne and John Wesley Bales, Vernon Lawson, Frank Paul Leslie March, and Bernard O. Pielag, all of Philadelphia.

Parents Get Medal For Missing Flier

Second Air Medal Awarded To Lt. Gordon Henderson Who Is Missing Over Germany

Awarded to their son, Lt. Gordon Henderson who has been missing in action over Germany since June 21, 1944, an Air Medal with an Oak Leaf Cluster was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Ira Henderson of Wampum by an army officer from Pittsburgh.

The award was made in the presence of the Henderson family at their home in Wampum, and is the second air medal which Lt. Henderson has won. He was overseas only two months before being reported missing, but he had nearly all of his missions completed.

The missing flier graduated from high school with high honors at the age of sixteen. He entered the AAF in February, 1943, and received his commission the following December. Lt. Henderson was a pilot on a B-24 Liberator bomber.

Aid To Be Given Income Tax Payers

Deputy Collector Of Revenue Announces Schedule For Dates He Will Sit In County

A schedule of dates on which Lawrence county residents may obtain assistance in the preparation of their income tax reports in their home communities was released today by William L. Kummer, Division Chief, Internal Revenue office, 201-203 Post Office building, New Castle.

Income tax returns for the calendar year 1944 must be filed not later than March 15, 1945 with the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives or has his principal place of business.

Most taxpayers have already made substantial payments on their 1944 federal tax through withholding from their wages or direct payments to the collectors, the local office explained today, but nevertheless, all taxpayers must file annual returns on or before March 15 next, as provided by law.

Any person whose total income 1944 was $500 or more must file a return. Taxpayers should use either their withholding receipts or Form 1040.

While most taxpayers will be able to prepare their returns themselves, a deputy collector of Internal Revenue will be at the following places on the dates indicated, to assist them in filing their returns:

Ellwood City, Post Office—Feb. 19 through March 15, 1945.

Bessemer, Post Office—Feb. 26 and 27.

New Wilmington, Post Office—Feb. 28.

New Castle, 201-203 Post Office building, Internal Revenue office, (2nd floor) New Castle, Pa., daily from 8:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

No fee is required of taxpayers for information and assistance in the filing of their returns by the Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue.

Man Killed In Pittsburgh Fire

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—One man was killed and three women were rescued today when a two-alarm fire swept through a downtown building housing a grill and several apartments.

The body of Anthony Tassi, 70, whose wife, Katherine, was taken to a hospital last night for an operation, was found near the door of his second floor apartment.

Mrs. Margaret Weaver and her daughter, Ruth, were carried down ladders from their third floor apartment and Mrs. Charles Drumm was led out by firemen.

Fire Chief William H. Davis estimated damage at $4,500 and said the fire apparently started in the basement of the grill.

Wedding Bells To Ring For Nelson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Wedding bells were about to ring again today for Donald M. Nelson, 56-year-old special adviser to President Roosevelt and former WPB chairman.

Nelson filed application in the district court for a license to marry Marguerite Coulbourn, 26, former George Washington University beauty contest winner.

Nelson was divorced in Chicago about four weeks ago. Miss Coulbourn's first husband, Paul Strashun, of New York, died several years ago.

District of Columbia laws require a three-day waiting period before a marriage license can be issued.

Home On Leave After Seven Years Service In Navy

After spending the past 17 months in Brazil, William Ray Bryan, chief boatswain's mate of the U. S. Navy, has been enjoying a 30 day leave with his mother, Mrs. Mary Anne Bryan, and the W. E. Lavenders, all of 1610 Huron avenue.

He joined the Navy at the local recruiting station on January 10, 1938, and arrived back in New Castle on the day that completed seven years of naval service.

He has been in many interesting cities, including Paris, London, Stockholm, Rio de Janeiro, Honolulu, Trinidad, Havana and Portsmouth, England.

He wears the American Defense Service Bar, with an A in it for being in action in the North Atlantic before the war began. He also wears the Pacific Theatre Service Bar for being on a ship that took part in the Doolittle raid on Tokyo.

The American Ribbon for service in Blimps during the German submarine warfare and the European Theatre Ribbon are also worn. He has been transferred to Little Creek, Va.

cluded in the BLS figures mentioned above.

"Just the same food prices have been well controlled, and food is forty per cent of the budget of the average family. Rent is the next biggest item, and for two years the rent level has been held even. So all in all, we feel the job has been creditable, though far from perfect."

"No appraisal of the job should, of course, fail to take note of the clumsy mistakes which have been made. In a huge organization . . . set up in a matter of months . . . this would be bound to happen. I suppose we'll always have examples like the ridiculous fruit cake regulation, which appeared on the front page of most of the newspapers of the country. Somehow or other, the newspapers have neglected another distinguished example . . . the regulation in which we included a price for live chickens without feathers!"

"There are very many very encouraging aspects of the scene as viewed from the OPA vantage point."

"Certainly, I have a greater faith in the democratic form of government than ever before. I believe it is perfectly possible for the large majority to get their way. You cannot deal with congress very long without having a very great respect for their position in our government."

"Another encouraging aspect of my experience comes from the numbers of exceedingly effective people I've seen here. Some of these are government servants from way back, and others have come to government from universities, scientific organizations, foundations, etc."

"I've seen a good many long haired professors who were very much more effective than most of the businessmen you see in Washington. I've also seen some businessmen highly touted for their big salaries, completely fail in Washington."

"All in all, however, I don't ever expect to be connected with a group of more able people than I see now almost every day."

"We all saw the depression of 1931, 1932 and 1933. A great many of the factors which created that depression and the depression after the last war exist today."

"At the risk of being labelled an over-zealous bureaucrat, therefore, I'll say that I think there is absolutely no chance of avoiding a serious depression, unless both government and industry take steps to hold employment high. If that is done, enough people will have enough income to buy the large part of the products we can make. If somehow we can maintain those jobs, markets will be big for business, and prosperity will continue."

"That's why all of us are thinking . . . within the scope of our own particular responsibilities . . . of ways to maintain large numbers of jobs after the war is over. My own feeling is that by far the best solution is for industry to take the lead. They can take many effective steps. Not the least of these is to price products lower, thus developing much larger markets than were available before the war. In this case, profits would flow from volume rather than from wide margins. "If industry will take steps of that kind in as many different areas as possible, government's efforts should, in my opinion, be confined to those which are complementary. They should be devised to stimulate competition and to help build markets at the time when increased markets will do the most good."

Smuggled To U.S.A., Dog Sergeant Chews Self Out Of Crate

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Sergeant Scat, a mongrel mascot for a marine outfit, is resting from his war adventures, which earned him several campaign ribbons and a presidential citation.

Although a "foreigner," the sergeant served several months with the marines in New Caledonia, where he was picked up by the Leathernecks. He was brought to America by Sgt. Jack M. Davis, who smuggled him aboard and off a ship.

At a West Coast port, the mascot was placed in a crate and shipped toward Youngstown, O. At Chicago, however, Sergeant Scat chewed his way out and escaped when the empty crate arrived at the home of an uncle and aunt of Sergeant Davis, they telegraphed the express company.

Police found the canine veteran wandering around the railroad station, his ribbons and decorations still intact.

Rumors Indicate Civil Authority Slipping In Reich

Forged Banknotes, Spurious Ration
Cards Disrupt Distribution
Of Supplies

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Reports reaching London today from neutral sources, along with information trickling out of Germany itself, gave a broadening picture of growing disorders within the Reich along with indications that the Nazi party's grasp on the nation was weakening.

The London Daily Mail printed a dispatch from Zurich which said reliable sources had reported the first symptoms of open unrest and rejection of Nazi authority were "becoming visible" in Germany.

These reports said disturbances in western Germany were more pronounced than in the east and consisted of clashes between the Nazis and civilians, strikes and street fights for dwindling food supplies.

British officials disclosed they had received reports that there were multiplying indications the Nazi grip was slipping, chief among them being proof that Reich banknotes
no longer were being printed on watermarked paper to safeguard against forgery.

In addition to forged banknotes,
Germany is being swept by spurious ration cards sold in the black market which has almost completely disrupted the distribution of food and supplies.

There were even indications that in many regions the civil authorities had abandoned their attempts to collect taxes.

guished guests to be present.

Priests of Lawrence county have been invited as honored guests for the evening.

Bernard N. Hanlon, local member, will be the toastmaster on this occasion. Among the guests will be included: Mayor John Haven, J.
Preston Flaherty, Emmanuel Shenkan and Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, chaplain of the state training school at Morgantown.

Following the full-course dinner a speakers' program will be heard, and afterwards an entertainment will be enjoyed. Dancing will be the main pastime, music to be provided by a local orchestra.

Francis Frey and Mrs. Catherine
Laurel are co-chairmen for the occasion, and they will be assisted by a group of committees.

Mrs. Essie McCurdy Has 99th Birthday

Cards, Callers, Flowers, Poetry All Add To Celebration For Oldest Resident

"I'd say this was my nicest birthday, only I said that last year too," laughed Mrs. Essie McCurdy, sitting up in bed Thursday evening at the close of an eventful birthday. "Of course, I've never been ninety-nine before."

household at 231. Leasure avenue busy the whole day. "One hundred and fifty-two cards at the last count, and they're still coming in, reported Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dennis, Mrs. McCurdy's foster son and his wife. "Some are from California, Florida, Massachusetts and Kentucky. Callers have been coming, too, and others are coming on Friday. And Mrs. Dennis has been spending the day answering the telephone."

One room upstairs had been designated as the "flower room" to hold the many lovely bouquets of flowers which had been sent by friends and well-wishers. Even poetry, written especially in honor of her birthday, has been sent to Mrs. McCurdy by a neighbor.

Although she has been in bed for five months, "Aunt Essie" was as interested in every detail of her birthday, from the candles on the cake to the visitors, as she must have been on her birthdays 70 or 80 years ago.

"I wish I could thank everybody," the white-haired woman said. "I couldn't make it too strong, either. Yes, it's certainly been one of the nicest."

Opponents To 'Work Or Jail' Bill Gaining

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Forces opposing the "work or jail" labor draft bill claimed today they are gaining ground in their fight against it in the Senate.

They had definitely succeeded in slowing up progress on the measure with a possibility that a break in the war situation might cause a shift in sentiment against the bill. As the military affairs committee continued closed-session hearings today, it was announced that next hearings will not be held until next Tuesday. It appeared unlikely that committee consideration of the bill will be ended next week.

Opposition Growing
"I think that the opposition is growing," said Sen. Albert B. Chandler (D) Ky., committee member. "We keep on getting testimony about the superior job we have done in war production. It is a question of having to stop breaking records some time and whether new legislation would not upset our present situation."

Determined supporters of compulsory manpower legislation, however, showed no signs of weakening. Many of them predict that if Germany collapses the need for the legislation will increase.

"The bill is coming along all right," said Sen. Austin (R) Vt. "I don't agree that the bill is dead or anything like it."

The committee today was to hear O. Max Gardner, former North Carolina governor and chairman of War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes' advisory committee, Julius G. Lührsen, secretary of the railway labor executives association, was to appear against the bill.

The testimony of President Ira Mosher of the National Manufacturers Association against the bill admittedly made an impression on some members.

Might Slow Down Work
He told the committee that the bill might result in a slowing down of production because of the resentment it would create among workers. He suggested as an alternative that legislation be enacted authorizing the war manpower commission to impose ceilings upon employment in factories.

"Every factory manager knows that this type of legislation may very well decrease efficiency by as much as 10 to 40 per cent," he said. "This actually happened in some government-operated plants in the last war."

"If the delicate mechanism which we call 'work tempo'—which is the most vital factor in efficiency—is lowered by 10 to 15 per cent, there isn't enough manpower or womanpower in the country to turn out the material needed by the army and the navy."

In his opinion the bill which passed the House will breed discord and seriously injure efficiency."

Sen. Thomas (D) Utah, committee chairman, said Mosher appeared to prefer a national service bill to a "work or jail" measure. He also was represented as declaring omission of women from the measure is a fatal defect.

Lt. W. A. Greer Is Home From England

Local Bomber Pilot Completes Missions Against Nazis And Has Arrived Home For Rest

First Lt. William A. Greer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee J. Greer, of 815 East Washington street, has arrived home from England, where he has been stationed for the past year as pilot of a B-24 bomber. He has completed more than his required 30 combat missions against the enemy, and has the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters, and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Lt. Greer has been in service since 1941, and after a period spent at Chanute Field, Ill., spent two years in the Panama Canal zone, after which he transferred to the flying corps, taking his primary training at Perrin Field, Texas. He received his commission at Brooks Field, Texas, and took advanced bomber training at Tuscon, Ariz., following which he went overseas. He was in an army hospital in England for two months due to a mishap to his plane.

Lt. Greer flew here from England, making the trip in record time, and on completion of his leave, will report to Miami, Fla., for re-assignment.

ANCESTORS AND BIRTH CERTIFICATES

SOUTH BEND, Feb. 9.—Melvin J. Thornton, 68, great grandson of Matthew Thornton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, has proved satisfactorily to Judge Dan C. Pyle that he is a U. S. citizen. Thornton, who established citizenship with the family Bible, wanted a war job and didn't have a birth certificate.

Tired, Aching, Back and Legs?

Amazing Relief in 5 Minutes
You probably feel like a lot of other people that about all you can do is take something to ease the pain and let it go at that, but don't be foolish. Make up your mind today that you are going to give your muscles a real chance to get well. Go to any good drugstore today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.
The very first application after opening up the pores with a good hot towel will give you relief. A few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your aches and pains may shortly disappear.
Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue.

Girl Scouts Choose Internationalism As February Theme

Tying in with current post-war and internationalist thought, the Girl Scout observation of "international thinking month" during February is especially timely this year. The special day set aside for "International Thought" is February 22, the birthday of Lord and Lady Baden Powell, chief scout and chief guide, and by coincidence, the birthday of George Washington.

The day has been chosen by the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in order to emphasize the things of primary importance in internationalism—goodwill, peace, health.

New Castle troops are planning activities during the month showing some of the things which they have been learning about other countries and about international relations, and during the week beginning February 19 scouts are planning to bring foreign-made articles from their homes, with information about the countries and the peoples of the countries where the articles were made.

In March, the Girl Scouts of America will be celebrating their thirty-third birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shuler and son Pearce spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shuler and son of New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miles and daughter Bonnie of Painsville spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McCracken.

Members of Liberty grange met on Tuesday evening in the grange hall for a program on "The World Tomorrow." The next meeting will be February 20, when a Valentine program will be presented.

Mrs. Jennie Walton has a broken wrist as the result of a fall on the ice. She is being visited by Mrs. Venetta Kildoo for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Weddell McCracken called on the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint McCracken of Slippery Rock last Sunday.

Recent guests at the H. A. McCracken home were Mrs. William Hanna of the Butler road and son Lt. Jack Hanna who has recently returned from Army service in India.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCracken entertained at a surprise party in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Margaret Louise, on January 26. Twenty guests were present for the games and music of the evening. Refreshments were served buffet style, with Miss Glenna McCracken and Miss Ruth Post assisting.

Mrs. McCracken, Pricilla McCracken of Slippery Rock was an out-of-the-district guest at the party. The honoree received many lovely birthday gifts.

Maine Day Will Be Observed Soon

Col. Daniel Leasure Post, United States War Veterans Are Planning Celebration

Annual observance of Maine Day, commemorating the sinking of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, February 15, 1898, which precipitated the war with Spain, will be made by Col. David Leasure Post, United States War Veterans, on Wednesday evening, February 14.

A chicken dinner for all Spanish War veterans and their wives will be held in the Legion Home at 6:30 p. m., followed by a program of music and addresses. Tickets are in the hands of the committee, composed of Commander Harry E. Eckelberger, E. L. Kuriz, and William F. Dickson.

The reception committee is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Flansburg, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Offutt, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whitacre, and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Porter.

Col. Daniel Leasure Post will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion Home, when final arrangements for the observance will be completed.

Report Agreement Is Likely On Return Of Lewis Miners To Labor Federation

By PHILLIPS J. PECK (U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9.—Re-affiliation of John L. Lewis' potent United Mine Workers Union with the American Federation of Labor was regarded as a virtual certainty today barring some unforeseen obstacle interposed by the mine boss himself.

The federation's executive council, assembled in mid-winter session in Miami, is ready to welcome the 600,000 miners back "as is" if the council is allowed to adjudicate any jurisdictional dispute that may arise.

Lewis reportedly has agreed to such procedure in conversations with AFL President William Green in Washington, but there is no indication of any written commitment. The council apparently wants the "terms" in writing.

The UMW president holds the key to the situation and a final decision should be forthcoming by Monday. Lewis did not make a representative to Miami, remaining in Washington to prepare for his forthcoming negotiations with the coal operators.

ish he has cooperated with the Western Union in delivering important messages to isolated farms and homes.

He has also flown faculty members to remote schools where attempts are being made to reopen and continue programs which have been suspended for several weeks.

Minister In Plane Assists In Crisis

Rev. W. George Thornton, Waterford, Flies Piper Cub To Snowbound Areas

ERIE, Feb. 9.—Rev. W. George Thornton of Waterford has been effectively cooperating in the emergency which has prevailed in Erie and vicinity during the past two months. Flying a Piper Cub plane equipped with skis he has taken off from local landing fields and has been able to reach snowbound localities and isolated farms which could be reached in no other way.

With the ski-equipped plane the great snowbound stretches make practically every field a landing field. In addition to caring for cases of sickness and death and other urgent calls in his wide-spread parish he has cooperated with the Western Union in delivering important messages to isolated farms and homes.

He has also flown faculty members to remote schools where attempts are being made to reopen and continue programs which have been suspended for several weeks.

Report Confession In Woman's Death
PLYMOUTH, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Ray Mehlichick, 20-year-old Benton, Pa., timber cutter, was expected to be arraigned today on a murder charge after confessing, according to police, to strangling the wife of a U. S. seaman on duty in the Pacific.
Mehlichick was reported to have made his confession last night as state police pressed investigation into the strangling of Mrs. Mary Ulozas, 29, whose body was found in the bed of a creek.
State Police said Mehlichick admitted he had met Mrs. Ulozas in a cafe, walked with her towards her home and then choked her with the belt of her coat after attempting to assault her.

Brown Signs To Coach Pro Team

Former Massillon High And Ohio State Grid Coach Gets Attractive Offer At Cleveland

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Lt. J.G. Paul Brown, for three years head football coach at Ohio State university, today was added to the list of prospective coaches the new All-American conference is assembling in the expectation of starting operations this fall.

Lt. Brown signed a five-year contract as head coach of the Cleveland team in the conference at an undisclosed figure, but one which was described by Arthur McBride, owner of the franchise, as representing the "best deal ever given a football coach."

Will Complete Duties

Brown, now football officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, will not report for his new duties until he has completed his service with the Navy. The terms apparently were such that he could not turn them down in spite of his success and great popularity at Ohio State.

Owner McBride, Cleveland taxicab magnate, said Brown would have unrestricted charge of the club, including the right to hire and fire all personnel. The home grounds of the club will be Cleveland's municipal stadium which has a seating capacity of 83,000.

Other coaches signed by the All-American conference are Lt. Comdr. Jack Meagher of the Iowa Sea-hawks, who will have charge of the Miami squad, and Buck Shaw of Santa Clara university, signed by the new San Francisco club.

Books Suggested For Scout Reading

Today is the first day of Boy Scout Week and at the junior department of the public library, Miss Sarah Mervis, junior librarian, suggests books for reading that appeal especially to Boy Scouts.

The books suggested have been grouped in the boys and girls department so that they are easily located. Here is the list:

Rooster Club, Angelo; Boy Scout's Book of True Adventures; Boy Scout's Hike Book and Camp Book; Cave, Boy Scout and His Law, Chalmers; Uncle Dan, Clemens; First Aid for Boys, Cole; Boy Scouts in Death Valley, Eaton; Lord Baden-Powell of the Boy Scouts, East; Lost on a Mountain in Maine, Fendler; Wolf Patrol, Funderburg; Don Strong, Petro; Leader and Scout Radio Patrol, both by Heflinger; Hobbies and Hobbies by Lutz.

Boy Scout's Book of Hobbies for Fathers and Sons; Boy Scout's Book of Indoor Hobbies; Trails and Boy Scout's Book of Outdoor Trails, all by Mathews; Roll in the Woods, Seton; Boy Scouts to the Rescue and Scouting on the Mystery Trail, both by Smith; and Making the Most of Yourself by West.

Nazis Should Face 'Court Of People' Is Teacher's Idea

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Nazi war criminals should be tried by an allied "people's court" where "plain old-fashioned justice" will serve as an object lesson both to Japan and future war-mongers.

Dr. C. D. Champlin of the Pennsylvania State college said today.

"There must be no torture, no mob hysteria, no scenes of burning," he added, "but legitimate trials based on records of offenses with death or prison terms as the sentences."

Dr. Champlin, professor of education at Penn State and state department delegate to an international education conference at Geneva in 1935, believes "the bright light of international publicity should be trained on all details of the war crimes."

Proposing a central court in Paris or London, with a series of minor courts scattered throughout Europe, Dr. Champlin said representation on the allied commission should be determined by the extent of a nation's suffering and its contributions to victory.

Women, he added, should be included on the courts because there have been so many crimes against them.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends brechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Plan Attack On Cigaret Black Market Dealings

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A campaign launched to smash a black market in cigarettes was underway in Philadelphia today following a conference between district OPA directors and regional Administrator Daniel P. Woolley.

Woolley said the campaign would be launched officially in New York on Sunday and would be followed by drives in other regional cities. "We plan to drive cigarettes above ground," he declared. "I am convinced that the dealers are manipulating cigarettes and driving them underground for prices. There is a terrific black market all along the coast."

Woolley disclosed that cigarettes were being sold for as much as 20 cents a half-pack in New York and as high as $3 and $4 a carton.

Presidents Lives Will Be Discussed

Executive Club Speaker Is Noted Authority On Presidents And Their Human Qualities

Frederick Taylor Wilson, who is to be the next speaker of the Executive Club, at their dinner meeting in The Castleton, Tuesday evening, February 20, is acknowledged to be the leading authority in the United States on the lives of the presidents and their families.

His lecture, "The human side of the presidents," has won high praise from critics, by bringing our presidents closer to the public, contributing much to the foundation of our government.

Pfc. C. A. Kirkland Wounded In France

Pfc. Charles A. Kirkland, former New Castle resident, who has been serving with the infantry in France, was seriously wounded on the French front on January 2, according to a war department telegram sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kirkland of Sandy Lake, Pa. Now under treatment in an army hospital, Pfc. Kirkland is suffering from concussion and contusions of the forehead as the result of a shell blast.

At Christchurch, New Zealand, a resident displayed a piece of wrapping paper with some pride. He said it had done heavy wartime duty, making four round trips to England as the wrapper around periodicals. He said he intended sending the paper on another trip, expecting it back in about nine months.

Merchants Make Flood Preparation
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Scarcity of storage space in flood-free areas today was claimed by Pittsburgh food wholesalers as constituting a more serious situation than either the transportation, or manpower problems, as cautious merchants sought higher ground for placing supplies.

Military aid will be provided to move food stocks if an emergency arises, William M. Walsh, supervisor of the War Food Administration, told a meeting of 35 food dealers and associations comprising the food advisory committee.

Patrick Fagan, director of the War Manpower Commission in Pittsburgh, said an emergency pool of manpower would be available in case of flood.

PLAN ROADSIDE PARKS
HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The postwar planning commission threw its support today behind a bill pending in the general assembly which would provide for the creation of "roadside parks" along Pennsylvania highways to accommodate travelers.

Chairman H. W. Prentiss, Jr., said the commission approved the measure introduced by Rep. Wrayburn B. Hall (R) Potter, which would authorize the highways department to choose locations of the parks.

Four Fliers Die In Plane Crash

Accident Involves Army Transport And Navy Medium Bomber Near Key West

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Naval authorities today announced the names of four fliers killed near Key West Wednesday in an accident involving a four-motored Army transport plane and a twin-motored Navy medium bomber.

The dead, including two Navy officers and two crew members, were aboard the Navy bomber. None of the occupants of the Army plane was injured.

The dead included: Lieut. Lucius Graydon Stull, 37 USNR (514 Front street) Berea, O., and Lieut. William G. Hoffman, 25 USNR, New Brunswick, N. J.

EXTEND BATTLE AGAINST WALLACE

Opponents Carry Fight To Powerful House Rules Committee To Add Restrictions

By RAYMOND WILCOVE (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Opponents of Henry A. Wallace carried their fight today to the powerful House Rules committee in an effort to open the way for restricting further the former vice president's powers in the event he is confirmed as secretary of commerce.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich., speaker) headed the drive as the rules committee opened hearings on the Senate-approved George bill, a compromise framed to make possible Senate confirmation of Wallace by divorcing federal lending agencies from the Commerce department.

Hold Majority

There were indications that the anti-Wallace forces held a majority on the Rules committee of four Republicans and three Democrats who might either block reporting the bill to the floor or send it out with a "wide open" rule which would permit consideration of any amendments offered by Wolcott.

Administration forces were believed ready to call up the bill for consideration next Wednesday, regardless of what action the Rules committee took, in the belief that they held sufficient votes to pass the George measure without radical revisions. Administration leaders insisted that the Wolcott amendments, which drastically tightened the George bill, would endanger passage of the measure and upset the compromise effected to make possible Wallace's confirmation with limited powers.

Parliamentary Moves Seen

In the event the Rules committee refused to send the bill to the floor in an attempt to pigeon-hole it, the administration would call the measure up next week on "calendar Wednesday," a day infrequently set aside for consideration of legislation by committees.

Anti-Wallace forces hoped for a "wide open" rule from the powerful Steering committee in the event they could not kill it in committee as they were fearful that otherwise Wolcott's amendments would be ruled out of order as not germane to the George measure. The House, however, could override the Rules committee recommendation.

Rep. Sabbath (D-Ill., Rules committee chairman, indicated that the hearings on the George bill might carry over until Monday or Tuesday, which would give the administration additional time in which to attempt to line up anti-Wallace Democrats on the committee into voting for a simple "open" rule. This would not give Wolcott's amendments immunity from being ruled out of order.

THIS WILL SPOIL "FUN" FOR MANY

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police have their own "magic lamp" with which they hope to discourage pranksters who enjoy turning in false fire alarms.

The gadget sprays a very thin powder upon the hand of the culprit as he pulls the alarm down. The powder is easily visible under a fluorescent lamp, thus "giving away" the offender.

A battalion fire chief disclosed that every fire alarm box in the city gets its "regular bath" with the sleuth-aiding powder.

German Report On Red Attacks

Strong Defensive Fighting Is Claimed For Nazi Forces On Oder Front

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Soviet forces launched a strong attack from Steinau and in heavy fighting, which extended to the neighborhood of the eastern outskirts of Liegnitz, 80 Soviet tanks were destroyed, the German high command communique said today.

On the Oder front, between Fuerstenberg and the Oder bend, German forces succeeded in narrowing down several Russian bridgeheads.

The garrisons of Schneidemuhl, Poznan and Elbing defended themselves against heavy Soviet attacks, the communique added.

In East Prussia renewed Soviet breakthrough attempts were foiled in fierce fighting at Landsberg and Krueberg, Berlin said.

The communique admitted that Canadian units in their new attack southeast of Nijmegen, after fierce fighting, had been able to penetrate into several localities. It was claimed, however, that the Allies were subsequently bogged down by strong defensive fire.

In the Schnee Eifel the American or eliminating them in counter attacks the communique said.

The strong defensive fighting around Pyritz, Arnswalde and at Deutsch-Krone continued, it reported.

Compulsory Army Training Favored By 14 College Heads

University And College Presidents Send Letter To President Roosevelt On Issue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The heads of 14 of the nation's outstanding universities and colleges came out today for immediate adoption of peacetime compulsory military training.

In a letter to President Roosevelt, the educators said they believed that if a "sound plan" for universal training was adopted now it would "enable the United States to speak with greater authority at the peace table in favor of an international organization to enforce peace."

They also expressed belief that "it is more fitting in our form of government to ensure national security through a democratic plan of military training rather than through the maintenance of a large professional standing army."

Signers of Letter

Signing the letter to Mr. Roosevelt were:
John G. Bowman, chancellor, University of Pittsburgh; Edwin S. Burrill, director, Cooper Union; Robert C. Clothier, president, Rutgers university; Karl T. Compton, president, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Thomas S. Gates, chairman of the board, University of Pennsylvania; Ernest M. Hopkins, president, Dartmouth college; Robert L. Johnson, president, Temple university; Stanley King, president, Amherst college; William Mather Lewis, president, Lafayette college; Charles Seymour, president, Yale university; Frank B. Snyder, president, Northwestern university; John J. Tigert, president, University of Florida; Levering Tyson, president, Muhlenberg college; and Blake R. Van Leer, president, Georgia School of Technology.

The educators said that adoption of the training program now "will reassure the other peace-loving nations of the world that the United States proposed to co-operate with them in outlawing war and will not again retreat into isolationism."

"We believe that the maintenance of a large standing army is contrary to the traditions of our people and opposed to the best interests of the nation," they added.

No Perpetual Commitment

"The adoption now of a proper plan of universal military training involves no perpetual commitment. If out of the coming discussions among the nations an effective international plan to ensure peace should emerge and the unrighteous ambitions of aggressor nations permanently blocked, the congress would always have the authority to modify or abrogate the military training system."

"It is our firm belief that the proposal for a system of universal military training should be considered now; its advantages and disadvantages carefully weighed and appropriate action taken without subjecting the nation to those hazards which are involved in postponement and delay."

"As a nation we are better able at this time to reach a wise decision on this important matter than we shall be after the war is over, when again we shall be lulled by a false sense of security. Contrary to the opinion expressed by some, we believe that the judgment of the people of the nation is now more sound on this issue than it will be after the peace is declared. We know too well the reaction which occurs after a conflict is over; the general desire to 'forget it.'"

Maj. Gen. Royce Will Wed Today

DETROIT, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce, of the Army Air Forces, will be married at 5 p. m. today to Miss Agnes Beves, 36, of New York City, whom he met in Cairo, Egypt, while he was in command of the Allied Middle East Air Force.

The ceremony will be performed by a Selfridge Field chaplain at Gen. Royce's suite in the Book-Cadillac hotel.

Gen. Royce, a native of Michigan, led the raid on the Japs at Manila just a few days after Bataan fell and evacuated some of the army personnel in that area under the very noses of the enemy.

Miss Beves, a Red Cross worker, was in charge of the Grand Hotel in Cairo, when it was turned over to American forces.

Gen. Royce's first wife died a year ago.

Koussevitzky Asks State Orchestras

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra today proposed a post-war program in which each of the 48 states would sponsor a symphony orchestra as "spiritual food for its residents."

The 70-year-old conductor, who now is in his 21st season as conductor of the Boston orchestra, said in an interview that a "great future is opening for American orchestral musicians."

St. Mary's Sodality Planning Dinner

Father-Daughter Dinner Scheduled On Monday, March 19, In Catholic Center

St. Mary's Sodality held their monthly meeting in the basement of the church Thursday evening. The meeting was in charge of Prefect Margaret Valley and Director Rev. Ignatius A. Koller.

Each committee was called upon to give their activities or plans of study for the ensuing year. Our Ladies committee has begun the study of "Our Lady's Titles." The apostolic committee has planned to have open discussion on the ceremonies of our religious services at each meeting. The Catholic truth committee is to give a list of approved movies, books and pamphlets; eucharistic and social committees combined are to have charge of a father-daughter dinner to be held on March 19 in the Catholic center. The publicity committee has started a historical scrap book and asked the co-operation of all the Sodality members in keeping this book. Also a copy of the Scribe and Sodality news sheet was given to each member.

A new committee was formed whose duty it will be to send remembrances and to make special visits to any Sodality who are ill. Mary Irene O'Connor was appointed chairman of this committee, with Ursula Rowbottom, Peg Rooney, Phyllis Phillips, Pat Haley, Geraldine Fee and Catherine Frazier as her aides.

Plans were made for some of the Sodality to attend the passion play, "Veronica's Veil," in Pittsburgh some time in March. Ursula Rowbottom was given charge of making the necessary arrangements.

Rev. Ignatius Koller then gave a short talk on "Conversion," after which the meeting was closed with recitation of the little office, led by Our Ladies committee.

Paper Says Spy System Proposed

Washington Newspaper Alleges Proposal For 'Super Spy System' For Postwar New Deal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Highest administration officials were silent early today about a front page story in the Washington Times-Herald, asserting Brig. Gen. William J. Donovan, director of the Office of Strategic Services, had proposed to President Roosevelt the creation of a "super spy system" for the postwar New Deal.

The story declared that "creation of an all powerful intelligence service to spy on the postwar world and to pry into the lives of citizens at home is under consideration by the New Deal."

The story quoted a memorandum purportedly sent the President by Donovan on November 18 last, proposing creation of the super spy system. It also quoted an appendix to the memorandum, in which Donovan purportedly wrote an executive order for the President to sign, which would create the agency. The story declared Donovan's plan would place military intelligence (G-2), Naval Intelligence (ONI), the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secret Service, the Internal Revenue and the Federal Communications Commission, all under the new agency "which Donovan expects to head."

The story added: "In the high circles, where the memorandum and draft order are circulating, the proposed unit is known as 'Frankfurter's Gestapo,'

Young Inmate Of Home Is Killed

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Eight-year-old Paul Young, an inmate of the children's home at Clearfield, was killed almost instantly late yesterday when he fell in front of a Pennsylvania railroad engine.

Young and a companion, Richard Miller, 15, had been sliding down an embankment along the tracks when the train approached. Young attempted to climb the embankment, slipped and fell, sliding directly into the path of the engine. D. B. Henderson of Tyrone was the engineer.

The boy was the son of Mrs. Mary Belle Young of Burnside.

LITERARY AMBITIONS

One of the ambitions of James I of England was to excel as an author. His first work was a volume of verse called "Essays of a Prentise in the Divine Art of Poesie."

Sgt. Dave Bradford Missing In Action

Highland Avenue Soldier Serving With First Division Reported Missing Late In January

Mrs. Mary Bradford of 1410 Highland avenue received a telegram from the War Department notifying her that her only son, Sgt. David R. Bradford, aged 21 years, serving with the 26th Infantry of the First Division, has been reported missing in action since January 24 in Belgium.

Sgt. Bradford entered the service February 28, 1943, and after preliminary training in the infantry transferred to the Air Corps, where he was in training as an air cadet at Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater, Okla. When training in this branch was discontinued he was transferred back to the infantry last April and went overseas early in September.

Mrs. Bradford had a letter from her son dated January 22, two days

War Production Falling Short

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Despite the tremendous effort of industry and labor, American war production today is falling short in 40 per cent of its schedules, and 27 per cent of the shortages are in items now badly needed by our fighting troops.

Col. Robert C. Downie, chief of the Pittsburgh ordnance district, today asserted: "Admonishing production forces not to slacken their pace now that victory in Europe appears in sight. Colonel Downie told a meeting of the Pittsburgh Builders Exchange that more than 700,000 articles are needed by the armed forces."

Building construction in many large cities of New Zealand is far greater than a year ago.

WMC Checks On Use Of Manpower In County Plants

Utilization Of Labor In 'Urgent' Industries Is Surveyed By Manpower Commission

Three surveys of employers at the top of the "urgent" list in the demand for manpower have been completed in Lawrence county by the utilization departments of the Harrisburg and Greensburg offices, according to George R. Gettings, manager of the New Castle U. S. Employment office.

These surveys were conducted to ascertain whether or not workers were being properly utilized and if the demands for additional workers presented by the employers were justified. If the surveys should reveal that labor in a plant is not being fully utilized, the employers' ceiling would be lowered accordingly, Mr. Gettings said.

Additional surveys will be conducted before long, and will continue until all essential plants in Lawrence county have been checked. The check-ups are made under directions from the War Manpower Commission headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Both skilled and unskilled male workers are still urgently needed in the county, Mr. Gettings added.

Titans Upset In Boston By Hamline 58-50

Howard Schultz And Rolie Seltz, Too Much For Westminster In Boston Battle

BOWLING GREEN IS NEXT AT BUFFALO

(Special To The News)

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Westminster College's Towing Titans, minus the services of Joe Cypier and Jack Watkins, two high-scoring stars called to the colors, played a brilliant game in the Boston Gardens-Arena last night, but bowed to the Hamline University team of St. Paul, Minnesota, 58 to 50.

It was the third loss for Westminster in 13 starts, Oklahoma A. & M. and Akron turning the trick in earlier games. Hamline has lost but one game this year that to the great Valparaiso team.

The Westminster team left here this morning for Buffalo, N. Y., where Saturday night they face tough Bowling Green, Ohio, quarter in the Buffalo Memorial Auditorium. Had Westminster won last night they were looking for a bid to the tourney at Madison Square Garden, and that still be invited.

Schultz-Seltz Stars
It was a case of too much Howard Schultz, and Rolie Seltz last night for the Titans. Schultz the regular first baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers and center in basketball had 19 of the points and Seltz a member of the Rochester Red Wings of the International league had 17 points, or a total of 36 of the 58 points. It was an account of this pair of professional baseball players that Westminster at first hesitated about playing the game, but decided to go through with it.

Chris Wagner and Nelson the two Titan forwards were high scorers for the Grover Washabaugh coached machine, each having 11 points while Al Blair, the Long Island boy kicked in with 10 points. Noble Jorgenson, the big center was watched closely all evening and had but six points.

Hamline led at the half 31 to 27. Seltz was forced out on personal fouls, and Schultz headed that direction with four when the game ended Westminster made 14 out of 20 fouls, for a very enviable mark, while Hamline had but four of 15.

Ask Sportsmen To Feed Wild Life

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Sportsmen were asked today by the state game commission to cut browse for deer and to support Pennsylvania's artificial feeding program for small game.

While the efforts of cooperating sportsmen have been decidedly worthwhile, the problem of deer feeding is still a pressing one, the commission reported. "Many of the deer congregate in the deep woods where sportsmen, due to the difficulty of plodding through the snow, have not penetrated."

The commission said 6425 bushels of corn and grain were purchased in January for distribution to wildlife.

Aliquippa High Is Here Today

New Castle-Aliquippa Section Three Game Starts At 4:30 This Afternoon

New Castle high school basketball team will battle Aliquippa high Steelers at Washington floor this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. This is a Section Three game, the tenth for Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his "Tough Luck Kids".

The preliminary game featuring the New Castle high junior varsity team in a game with a local team will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Battle Sharon Tuesday
Aliquippa will come here with a record of nine straight defeats. The Kippe-coached machine hope to break the ice soon, and believe that it may be this afternoon. New Castle lost another "heartbreaker" last Tuesday afternoon to Beaver Falls 38 to 36, and hope to win this one. New Castle defeated the "Quipers" at the valley court a few weeks ago.

New Castle faces another tough one at Sharon this coming Tuesday, and will try hard to atone for that 32 to 28 setback given them there by the Sharon Tigers. New Castle will be at home again on Friday a week with New Brighton slated here.

The afternoon games are being played to help conserve coal.

Junior Church Games Saturday

Six more games will be played in the junior church basketball league at the "Y" Saturday.

The schedule is as follows:

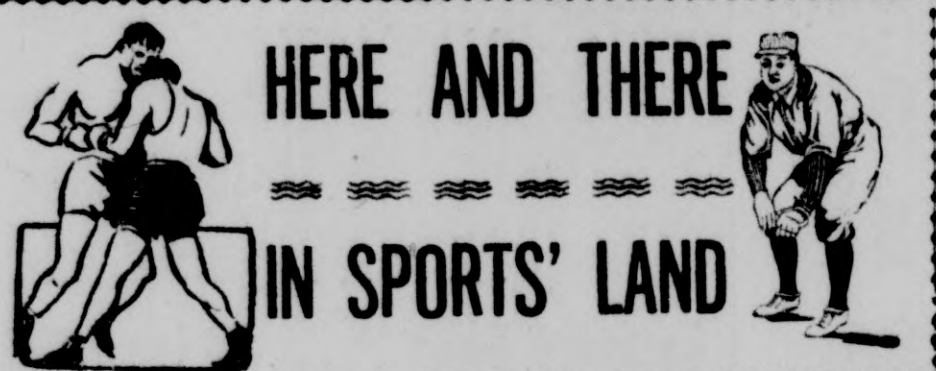

Epworth vs First Baptist.
Third U. P. vs First Christian.
St. George vs Trinity.

Highland U. P. vs Central Presbyterian.

Croton vs First Presbyterian.

First U. P. vs Second U. P.

NEW CASTLE NEWS SPORTS

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

CONGRESSMAN SAM WEISS, Glassport, Pa., and Fred Hartley, Jr., New Jersey, have introduced a bill in Congress which requests a grant of $25,000,000 to "inventory the well-being of the youth of America and help the states create athletic programs to promote healthy boys and girls from kindergarten on up." According to Weiss "proper physical training would have eliminated half the defects which left men unfit for military service." The bill would create a commission of nine, two senators, two representatives and five public members, including one with professional physical training, to be named by the president. No one yet knows what will happen to the bill. However, no one can say such a program would not provide benefits. It would be interesting to know how many schools, kept up by taxes, have a physical fitness program for all pupils. Some cater to one or two sports, such as football and basketball and only the most hardy derive any benefit. Everyone wants competitive programs but every boy and girl who goes to school should also receive a physical education.

"Why don't you organize what really will be a big hunt for fox?" was the question put by Dick Roberts to the writer yesterday. He bemoaned the recent hunt which was rather drab because of weather conditions. However, Dick believes that with weather conditions right and a crowd of 150 or 200 hunters, plus scores of fox hounds, many fox, or vermin, will be killed. He told us of one farmer, resident of Mt. Jackson vicinity, who doesn't appreciate hunters seeking fox on his land on Sunday. "What? Hunting fox on Sunday?" he exclaimed to the hunter who left the farm immediately. Not all persons believe Sunday hunting is the right thing, but those who do believe it is alright. In view of the fact that fox is committing untold damage and that the hunters work six and sometimes seven days a week and, if they "laid off" to hunt fox, it would cripple the war effort. Everyone has a right to his own opinion but a farmer's land is his and to control. Not all farmers are alike and some would be glad to have hunters kill fox on Sunday to save chickens for Monday.

If there had been no war, Second Lieut. Charles Goldblum, Westminster star who towered six feet, three inches above the basketball floor, would have graduated this spring. Instead he is reported missing in action over the Philippines while serving as bombardier on a B-17. Most of the boys Charlie played with—Buzz Ridg, Joe Spak, Stan Wasik, Lee Fox—are also in service, and Smokey Dummire, one of the best, was killed when his plane exploded in mid-air. If one recalls he'll remember Lieut. Goldblum playing both center and guard during the 1941 and 1942 seasons. They were a great outfit, those boys.

Under urging by Eddie Eagan, the new boxing commiss chairman in New York, boxing writers are trying out a new scoring system for rounds. It's a simple one and appears to be just what the doctor ordered for this sport which is the only major sport where every judge, referee or writer can score the bout as he sees it. According to Eagan's plan, the bout would be scored by rounds with four points given for each round. The loser of the round gets nothing and the winner gets up to four points depending on aggressiveness, rally blows landed, knockdowns scored, etc. At the end of the bout the score is totaled and the winner declared.

No Objections To Big League Ball, Chandler Asserts

Senator Chandler Says "Major League Baseball With 4-F's Seems Possible"

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—High government officials seeking a work-or-fight labor draft law were revealed Thursday to have no objections to "four or five hundred" 4-F's playing professional baseball this year.

This information was disclosed by Sen. Albert B. "Happy" Chandler (D-Ky.), who raised the question during closed hearings of the senate military affairs committee on the manpower issue.

"I don't think high officials disagree with my own observation from an overseas trip that the boys who are fighting want baseball continued and that they regard it as a great morale factor," he said.

Declining to reveal names of officials he referred to, Chandler said the matter was discussed several times behind closed doors. Among the high officials who have testified are Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt and Under-Secretaries of the War and Navy.

No Objections Heard

The Kentucky senator who is anxious to see the national game kept alive during the war, also disclosed there is no apparent objection among committee members to allow physically unfit men to continue playing ball.

"If there is any objection on the part of the committee to four or five hundred 4-F's I haven't heard it," he said.

The work or fight bill would force that work into the nation's war plants and looms as the greatest threat to continuation of baseball during the war. No sport has been declared essential.

While baseball has asked no favors of manpower officials, a scheme to allow 4-F's to keep their regular uniforms would assure its continuance.

President Roosevelt recently said he was in favor of the game going on with the use of 4-F's and under and over age men and if it did not hurt the war effort.

Bruce Smith On Green Bay Roster

GREEN BAY, Wis., Feb. 9.—(INS)—The name of Ensign Bruce Smith of the Navy, one of the great college football players of his time, was added Thursday to the roster of the Green Bay Packers, but whether he would get to play this season was problematical.

Smith, who played at Minnesota in 1939-40-41, was signed by Coach Curly Lambeau, the contract to become operative on Smith's return to civilian life. He now is stationed at the Green Cove, Fla., Naval base.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

CAT ON WINGS

In the north woods middays often are as hot and oppressive as they are in our large cities. But towns evening cool breezes not infrequently ripple the lakes and streams. Bass and wall-eyes begin feeding then, and the angler who has been idly loitering in the shade swings into action. He fishes until about 10 o'clock, when night closes in abruptly and, unless there's a moon, blankets the forest in almost total darkness. Then the fisherman finds himself miles from home, suddenly tired and sleepy, and resolves again that next time he'll know enough to quit half an hour earlier.

Horned Owl

I'm such a fisherman. So it happened that last summer I often was miles from camp, in the pitch dark, my boat at the edge of a cedar swamp or in some dusky cove where the bass had been hitting. It was upon such occasions that a weird series of undulating screams and groans that invariably sent chills coursing along my spine broke the evening calm. I always knew those cries were likely to resound through the woods and over the water with the advent of night, and I knew, too, what they were, and that their source was innocuous as the coo of a dove so far as I was concerned, but I experienced the chills anyway.

Another series of eerie wails would answer, and perhaps the sounds soon would be audible from several directions, far and near. It was the nocturnal orchestration of the great horned owl, otherwise known as the big hoot owl, or cat owl.

Naturalists have variously described the cries as "a-a-a-a-a," "echoing who-o-o-o, two-o-o-o," or "oot-too-hoo, hoo, hoo." The "cat" also is said to utter at times a series of velps like a dog, intermingled with catlike squalls, but I'll settle for the really indescribable, awe-inspiring hunting cry. The demoniacal laughter of the loon is expression of sheer joy compared with it.

Shoot On Sight

If I were an eastern or mid-western farmer I'd probably shoot a horned owl on sight. If I were a western rancher I'd likely as not permit him to go about his business unmolested. The voracious bird is death to poultry, game birds and rabbits, while a freshly perfumed skunk is one of his favorite dishes.

But he's also an enemy of ground squirrels, gophers, prairie dogs, rats, mice, shrews and various insects.

He's a big fellow, comparable in size to the snaky owl, and he's a year-round resident rather than a winter visitor, besides being widely distributed. Great horned owls are among the earliest birds to nest, sometimes laying their eggs early in February, the young hatching into a world of sleet and snow.

Alcoas Have Big Chance Tonight

Aluminum Company Battles Shenango Pottery For First Place In Indus Loop

Tonight is the night for the big battle at the "Y" in the Industrial League. This is the night that will decide whether or not the Shenango Pottery wins the 1945 championship, without a playoff. Tonight—the Aluminum Company, runners-up vs. the Pottery in the third game on the bill, at 7:30 o'clock.

There is a lot riding on this battle. The Alcoas are "hot", having won five and lost but one, that one to the Pottery earlier in the second-half. After tonight providing the Pottery win, the Alcoas still have an outside chance when the Pottery and Johnson Bronze battle on Monday, February 19. Coach Nicky Ross will start his strongest lineup tonight with Santangelo and Vargo at the forwards, Davis at center and Thomas and Wimer at the guards, with Laitenen and Ladimer also ready for instant service. The Alcoas will counter with their stars, "Shorty" Thornton, Byler, Jack Donegan and Jap Covelli.

The other games on the bill for tonight are as follows:
Epworth vs Croton.
United Engineering vs Johnson Bronze.

Sees Father Die, Keeps Fight Date, But Is Defeated

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Joey Falello, Pittsburgh lightweight, today was loser of a six-round bout which he fought under circumstances as difficult as a fighter might encounter.

Two hours before Joey climbed through the ropes to face Arbie Bowis of Aliquippa, his father, with whom he was eating dinner, died of a heart attack.

Despite his handicap Falello carried the fight to his opponent for the first three rounds, then weakened badly to lose in the final three stanzas.

Chicago Relays Start March 17

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The ninth renewal of the Chicago relays will be staged at the Chicago stadium March 17, the sponsors announced Thursday.

Gil Dodds, who set the world indoor record of 4:06.4 in winning the relays' banker's mile last year, is among the athletes invited to participate March 17, despite his announcement that he has retired from competition.

Shenango Awaits Wampum Invasion

Shenango Wants Revenge For 15-Point Defeat Handed Them By Wampum Recently

Shenango high school Wildcats are straining at the leash today, awaiting the battle tonight that brings the sensational Wampum High Indians to Shenango for a return Section 21 game. The junior varsity teams of the two schools will start the evening's evening off with a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Indications with interest mounting hourly in this important battle, point to a packed Shenango High gym for the titanic struggle that is sure to take place. Coach Eddie Nahas and his "Giant Killers" who dubbed on account of what they did to New Wilmington at Shenango recently—are anxiously awaiting this crucial battle, with the knowledge that Wampum must win this one or face a tough row from here in.

Wampum Faces Problem

Coach Butler Henrich, one of the best in these districts, knows that Wampum faces a serious problem tonight. Shenango has always been tough at home. Both coaches will counter with the very best they have. There is a lot riding on this game tonight.

While Shenango has lost three and must be considered out of the pennant picture at this moment, this is only conjecture, but should Wampum blow this one to Shenango and then turn around and dump New Wilmington at Wampum, it would be a tight battle to the finish—wire with Shenango still in there clutching along with the "dark horse" Bessemer team that has Wampum to face yet at Bessemer.

The other two games tonight in Section 21 are rather dwarfed by this Shenango-Wampum setto, but just the same Mt. Jackson goes to Union and New Wilmington to East Brook.

Canadiens Pad Lead By Victory

(International News Service)

The Montreal Canadiens increased their lead in the National Hockey league race today after handing the New York Rangers a decisive 9-4 defeat last night at Montreal.

The Canadiens rang up seven goals before the Rangers managed to score in the third period. Fernand Gauthier paced Montreal by scoring three times, while Ray Gettiffe and Maurice Richard each tallied twice.

Ranger goals were made by Hunt, Thurrier, Atanas and Demarco.

FAIR OR FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Arturo Godoy will not go down in what the boys call the "annuals" of fistiana as a super-duper man-eater. At his best he was just a good, strong mauling slugger who was about as rough and tough as they came with little pretense of the fancy Dan stuff. Yet, unless he has slipped a tremendous lot in the 31 years since he last appeared in the United States he is going to give our current crop of heavyweights a dreadful pain in the neck during the next few months.

The thickest South American started working out in New York yesterday for the beginning of a tour that will take him all around the country, with his ultimate goal several highly lucrative stands in Madison Square Garden. Naturally, he wants to meet Joe Louis again, if and when—

Stayed With Louis
Godoy went the limit with Louis in one fight—and got the vote of one official—and was stopped by a cut eye in a return match, which Louis seemed determined to win.

However, the high-water mark in rough-house excellence for Godoy came one night in the old Hippodrome on Sixth avenue. Tony Galento was rampaging around in those days and doing pretty well with rough stuff that maimed or frightened most of his opponents into submission.

Galento poured on the old one-two composed of his best shots with elbows and knees, missed with an occasionally, thumping, and finally the referee warned him.

Beat Tony Galento
Godoy said don't mind all that; just let them alone and everything would be all right. The referee backed off and let them go and there hasn't been anything quite so bruising around here within the memory of current fans. At the finish Godoy had softened Galento up and beat him to a decision.

I don't think Tony was ever quite so rough again, except on that evening when he had Lou Nova helpless and nearly murdered him before the bout was stopped.

The point is, Godoy was never a streamlined dancer and not even an exceptional puncher, but he could take it and he could rough it up with the best of them. He beat Galento two out of two and campaigned successfully for a long time until he returned home.

Fighters Being Paid Plenty For Bouts Nowadays

Bobby Ruffin, Second-Rater Has Banked $54,800 In Three Garden Fights

CITE EXAMPLES OF DEMPSEY-TUNNEY

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—We are inclined at times to cast a sneering glance at the fight game and everybody connected with it. But sometimes we wonder who are the real winners—the pug in the ring or we on the outside who have paid as high as $100 a seat to watch them waltz through 10 or 15 rounds.

There are thousands of us smart lads still working for a living while the so-called dummies of the ring have retired with fortunes. After all, if a tough, strong kid has little or no education and doesn't mind having his ears scrambled or his features altered a little, then fight game supplies as quick a road to fame and fortune as anything we can name.

Look At Top-Notchers
But for the fight game Gene Tunney, instead of being the millionaire he is, might be a cop or a clerk; Jack Dempsey might be driving a truck, and Joe Louis working in a machine shop for comparatively short dough.

However, we don't have to stick to champions like these. Let's take an ordinary club fighter and a non-champion at that. Bobby Ruffin, for example.

Bobby is 24 years old. If I'm not mistaken, he has had more education than most fighters because he went a year or two to high school. Now there are few, if any, college graduates who can do much more than make a fair living at that age.

But what has Bobby done with his fists? Well, here's a sample. For his last three fights—and bear in mind he is by no means a champion—Bobby has earned $12,500, $20,100 and $22,200 or a total of $54,800. And he made all that sugar, mind you, in the last few months. Why, doggone it, the president of the United States doesn't earn money at that rate of speed!

Ruffin In Money
The young man has four or five more fistic plums all ready to fall into his lap within the next six months or so and one of these is a prospective bout with Juan Zurita, the NBA lightweight champion.

These bouts may run his income up to $150,000 for less than a year. Ruffin likes to recall that he got $12 for his first fight but wound up in the red on that one because he had to buy shoes, pay his handler and also his fare from New York to Paterson, N. J.

But he pleased the cash customers and eventually he would up in Madison Square Garden and the heavy sugar.

Yes, we on the outside may be the smart ones but the lads inside the ring can't be so dumb at that. Not if you look up their standing with the banks.

Baseball Swells War Relief Fund

Choose Committee For Selection Of Landis' Successor

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(INS)—William Harridge, president of the American League, announced Thursday that a four-man committee has been selected to "survey the field" and recommend a successor to the late Judge K. M. Landis as commissioner of baseball.

The two American league members of the committee, Harridge said, are Donald L. Barnes and Alva Bradley, presidents of the St. Louis and Cleveland clubs, respectively.

Harridge said: "Both leagues agree that a commissioner should be selected as soon as practical."

"In order to expedite the selection of a commissioner the committee was named to make its canvass, and to give its recommendation to the leagues' members."

Many men have been mentioned for the post, including James A. Farley, J. Edgar Hoover, Leslie O'Connor, secretary to Landis, and a member of the three-man committee now running the office, Bobby Jones, the famed golfer, and Ford Frick, president of the National League.
